U. S. Warship Hits Mine Off Trieste, 3 Die, Many Injured

Joe for Joe—Joe Cronin is shown here with the former New York Yankees' pilot, Joe McCarthy, who will replace the Bosox skipper as manager of the Red Sox. The coming of McCarthy, who was signed to a two-year contract in New York today, sends Cronin into the Sox front office as general manager.

U. S. Warship Hits Mine Off Trieste

TRIESTE, Sept. 29 (AP) — Three men died today when the U. S. destroyer Douglas H. Fox hit a mine off Trieste. The explosion knocked out both of the destroyer's propellers and both rudders. Four other men were injured critically and eight more required hospital treatment.

One man died on the Fox almost immediately. Two others succumbed aboard the destroyer J. C. Owen, which took aboard the Fox' casualties, all enlisted men. The Owen arrived here tonight, about six hours after the explosion.

The Fox had about 200 men aboard, naval headquarters here said. She hit the mine 18 miles off Trieste as she was moving toward this free territory from Venice.

actually striking a ship or by various electrical and acoustical devices.

The moored type floats just below the surface of the water and explodes when it is hit by a ship.

Because of the location of the damage on the destroyer Fox some officers believed that the explosion may have been caused by a pressure mine.

It was perfectly possible, however, they said, for a mine broken loose from its mooring to be churned up by the movement of the ship so as to strike underneath the tailend of the ship.

In Washington the Navy Department said the blast wrecked the steering gear of the Fox, flooding all the after compartments and leaving her dead in the water.

Navy officials said the mine may have been an old one, broken loose from an area not yet swept clean of them since the war. The explosion occurred 18 miles off Trieste, dispatches from that Adriatic port said.

CRAFT HEAVILY ARMED

The names of the victims were not made public at once.

The Fox is one of the most heavily armed of American destroyers. Her main battery carries six five-inch guns plus 10 torpedo tubes. She joined the U. S. warships in the Mediterranean after leaving Norfolk, Va., July 21.

The Fox's skipper is Comdr. Charles W. Travis, of Annapolis, Md.

A Sumner class destroyer, the Fox was built in 1944, displaces 2200 tons and has a wartime complement of 315 men.

The flooding of all the after compartments indicated the mine was extremely powerful and must have gone off very close under the stern, experts believed.

Mine sweeping in the Mediterranean has been handled by the international sweeping and routing section of the British Admiralty, an officer explained.

Although a channel was cleared long ago between Venice and Trieste, this does not eliminate the possibility of an old mine drifting into the course of the ship, he said.

For example, six Japanese mines were spewed up on the beach near Miami last week by the hurricane.

There are a number of types of mines used in warfare, an expert said, but in general they are of the moored type and the influence type.

The latter type is dropped on the bottom and lies there until a ship passing overhead causes a change of water pressure and the mine then rises to the surface and explodes.

It can be adjusted to explode after a series of ships have passed rather than when the first goes over it and can be detonated by Kluxers Burn Cross in Tenn.

CROSSVILLE, Tenn., (AP)—Some 60 men garbed in robes of the Ku Klux Klan set off a dynamite blast and burned a 10-foot cross near Crossville, State Highway Patrolman Charles Johnson reported.

Johnson said the orderly demonstrators caused no damage and no arrests were made.

ONE-POUND BABY SURVIVING—Sixty-two hours after birth, more than three months prematurely, this one-pound girl is reported in fair condition in Owatonna, Minn., hospital. A 2½-inch glass in the basket gives an idea of the baby's size. The mother is Mrs. Warren Gray, 35 of Waseca, Minn. AP Wirephoto

Girl, 9 Others Die, 77 Wounded In Reprisal Bombing at Haifa

JERUSALEM, Sept. 29 (AP)—Ten persons were killed and 77 injured today when district police headquarters in Haifa was hit by a barrel of explosives which the Jewish underground reported it had set.

Irgun Zvai Leumi asserted in a communique that the explosion was in reprisal for the deportation of Jewish immigrants who arrived on the Exodus 1947 off Palestine without certificates, and who were deported eventually to Hamburg. The underground agency said the explosion equalled that of a 2000-pound bomb.

Four British and four Arab policemen were killed as were a 16-year-old Arab girl and a Syrian coffee vendor.

13 CRITICALLY HURT

The injured included 29 British constables, of whom 13 were critically injured, and various Jewish and Arab civilians. Up to 300 policemen, half of them asleep, were in the seven story building, which remained standing with its walls cracked, furniture wrecked and iron window guards torn loose.

The headquarters were close by the main Kingsway shopping center and near the dock area. Windows for 1000 feet were shattered.

"We have paid back for the shame of Hamburg and the shame of expulsion from the Fatherland and for the bloodshed of our brothers," the Irgun pronouncement said.

Four suspects were arrested in the Jewish quarter.

Most of the injured civilians were passengers on an intercity bus from Jerusalem which was passing the police headquarters when the explosion occurred.

DUMPED FROM TRUCK

Police said the bomb—a tar barrel loaded with high explosives—was dumped from a truck which backed up to the wire barricade surrounding the police station and dropped an improvised ramp over the barrier.

Rolling down the ramp and crashing into the building, the barrel exploded, shaking the whole harbor area.

Picture Gives Lie To Hanns Eisler's Red Break Story

Special to the Boston American

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—In spite of sworn denials by Hanns Eisler, alleged Communist now fighting deportation, that he had any connection with the Communist party since 1926, a photograph of the Austrian-born composer which an official Soviet bureau states was taken in 1936, has been uncovered in a Communist magazine published in that year showing him leading a group of Moscow children in singing a Communist song he allegedly had written.

In the same issue of the magazine "Music Vanguard," published in the United States, there is a 15-page article under the name of Hanns Eisler extolling the virtues of Communism and pledging his unswerving loyalty to the Red regime.

The caption on the photograph, discovered by the New York Daily Mirror, states that it was taken in 1935 by "Sov-Foto," the official Soviet news photo service in Moscow.

Alibi of Girl Fails, Death Driver Guilty

WAREHAM, Sept. 29—The alibi offered unwittingly by his girl friend failed to help Armando S. Darros, 28, Wareham rd., Marion, today as he was found guilty by Judge L. Francis Callan in district court here of leaving the scene of an accident in which Antone Oliveira, 64, Point rd., Marion, was killed while walking near his home.

Darros, who had pleaded not guilty, was sentenced to eight months in jail and appealed. He also appealed a fine of $25 on the lesser charge of driving so as to endanger.

GIRL PHONED POLICE

Police said Miss Jennie Gomes, 24, who lives a few doors away from Darros, was induced to phone Wareham barracks and report that she had seen Oliveira yesterday evening walking near some woods with blood streaming from head injuries.

The injuries, she allegedly told State troopers, were explained by Oliveira himself as incurred in a fall from a tree and a plunge from a cliff.

Darros was arrested by State police in a rear room of Miss Gomes' home, after they had questioned her about her phone call.

State Police Cpl. Augustine J. Barboza said there were no clues and no witnesses to the accident. The body was found, badly broken, with tire skidmarks evidencing the path of the auto just before it hit Oliveira.

While Troopers Barboza and Herbert Hales went to question the girl, Trooper James P. Herrick continued a routine check of garages for a damaged car.

Herrick said he found, hidden among cornstalks in a garden off Lower Point rd., a sedan with a dented fender and bits of cloth clinging to the metal.

TRACE CAR OWNER

This car was traced through its registration to a relative of the man under arrest, who told them the car was being used by the alleged hit-run driver.

The girl, according to the troopers, told them her boy friend came to her house and asked her to help get him out of trouble by telephoning the barracks and volunteering the story that the hit-run victim was injured in a fall, and thus persuade police there was no automobile involved in the death.

MAINE WIFE KILLS SELF

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 29 (AP)—Police Chief Frank R. Whitten reported today that Anthony Esposito, a storekeeper, said his wife, Mrs. Martha Esposito, 33, shot herself fatally in their home after an argument last night.

Woodsman Kills Maine Wife, Self

KINGFIELD, Me., Sept. 29 (AP) — A Kingfield woodsman and his wife were found dead of bullet wounds today in the bedroom of their cabin and Sheriff Earl Hawkins and Medical Examiner George L. Pratt said the deaths were murder and suicide.

Hawkins said Elno Niemi, 42, shot his wife, Lillian, 31, and then took his own life with a .30 caliber rifle sometime last night after he had been drinking.

Asta Niemi, 13, a daughter of the couple, came downstairs this morning to find her parents lying dead, Hawkins said.

The child said her father and mother had argued before bedtime last night but that she heard no shots or other disturbance afterward.

The little girl crawled through a chute in the ceiling to reach the ground floor when she found the door leading to a stairway locked, Hawkins said.

The home of the couple was on a woods road off the Kingsfield-Anson highway.

Brockton Boy, 13, Dead of Lockjaw

Robert C. Woodward, 13, son of Harry C. Woodward, Silver rd., Brockton, succumbed in Massachusetts Memorial Hospital from the ravages of the dreaded lockjaw infection he contracted 11 days ago, hospital authorities announced today.

It was the state's second lockjaw death within two months. The other victim, hospital attaches said, was a young girl in the western part of the state. Tetanus set in the boy's arm after suffering a compound arm fracture in a fall from his piazza.

Charges Against Constable Heard

Charges against a Boston constable, Michael Ober, resulting from his removal of furniture from a Roslindale home where the woman resident was critically ill, were taken under advisement today by the City Council Committee on Constables.

George O. Lewis, against whom the eviction proceedings were made, had obtained a new apartment and planned to move there tomorrow with his wife.

It was also brought out that, although Lewis' wife, Ethyl, was reported critically ill when Ober ordered the furniture removed, she had been out the preceding evening with her husband to look at an apartment.

Ober contended he was unaware of the woman's illness until he arrived with an eviction order.

STRICKEN AT JOB, DIES

Ralph A. Sweeney, 48, of St. Botolph st., Back Bay, collapsed today at his place of employment, the Holtzer-Cabot Co. of Amory st., Roxbury, and was pronounced dead at the Boston City Hospital. Police are attempting to get in touch with his father, believed a resident of St. Albans, Vt.

PRETTY GENE HAS TIFF WITH STUDIO—Attractive Gene Tierney, 20th Century Fox actress, who has been dragging down something like $3000 or $4000 a week, is out of a job today. She tiffed with the studio over a role in forthcoming film, saying, "I simply couldn't undertake the role because I didn't think it was right for me." Studio has given role to Anne Baxter.

Buddy Gets Wife, He Fights for Son, 6

An ex-GI and M. I. T. student, who lost his wife by divorce to his wartime buddy and fraternity brother, was fighting in probate court today to keep them from obtaining custody of his 6-year-old son.

The legal aftermath of the matrimonial break saw Eugene Ashley, Glen Falls, N. Y., a 24-year-his former wife, Betty, a 24-year-old ash blonde, and her present husband, Paul M. Cook, $200-a-week Williamstown executive.

At stake was the future of Eugene Ashley, II, now in the custody of his father's mother, Mrs. Katherine Ashley, Glen Falls socialite.

Her son, who roomed with Cook at M. I. T., was inducted with him and took Army training with him at Ft. Devens, testified Cook began receiving letters from Mrs. Ashley while they were in the Army.

"She also sent him her picture," he said.

Ashley testified he was served with divorce papers while in the service. His counsel, Sen. Edward M. Rowe, asked him:

"Who was the identifying witness when you were served?"
"Cook," said Ashley.

Atty. Rowe is fighting Mrs. Cook's petition for custody of the child on the premise probate court has no jurisdiction inasmuch as the child has never been in Massachusetts.

The case is continuing.

2,000,000 Expected to See All-Day Holy Name Parade

Plans were completed today by religious leaders, both clergy and laymen, for the Holy Name Society convention which opens here Wednesday night and reaches its climax with a day-long parade next Sunday.

INAUGURATE NEW SERVICE—Patricia Snow, daughter of Crocker Snow, director of State aeronautics, cuts the ribbon to permit passengers to board the United Air Lines' first DC-6 flight from Boston to the West Coast. Looking on are James W. Flood, chairman of the State Aeronautics Commission, and Stewardess Muriel McKay. Record-American Photo by Morris Ostroff

Throngs exceeding 2,000,000 will be on hand, weather permitting, to watch the parade of some 100,000 Holy Name members, it was estimated.

The parade will start at 10:30 a. m. and will not be completed until well after dark. One hundred bands and 75 floats illustrating scenes of religious and historic importance will be in line.

The two and one-half-mile route starts at Beacon and Hereford sts. Marchers will go down Beacon st. to Charles, Boylston, Washington and Stuart sts. to Park sq. and into Columbus ave., where they will disburse.

PARADE OF LIGHTS

Those forming ranks after dark will carry torchlights and floats will be illuminated by headlights of outos trailing behind.

Archbishop Cushing will lead the parade accompanied by officers of the national headquarters and the Boston archdiocesan unions of the Holy Name societies. The archbishop's group will fall out to enter the reviewing stand on the Beacon st. side of Public Garden.

There they will review the parade with visiting prelates, Auxiliary Bishop John J. Wright, Gov. Bradford, Mayor Hynes and the archdiocesan and diocesan spiritual directors of the Holy Name societies.

Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, police commissioner of Boston, will be chief marshal of the parade, which will include eight divisions.

Division marshals, in numerical order, are Col. Leo W. Banks, Maj. Charles J. Doherty, Andrew P. McArdle, Edmund L. Kelleher, Jeremiah Dean, Lt. Col. Bernard J. Fox, Maj. Joseph C. Donnelly and Maj. Alfred W. Dequoy.

SPECIAL ALTARS

Thousands coming to Boston on Sunday morning for the parade will be able to attend mass at special altars to be erected at the North and South stations.

Another impressive feature will be the Candlelight Holy Hour at Braves Field at 8 p. m. Friday, to be attended by 60,000 members of the society. All lights will be extinguished in the park, and candles, held by each person, will be lighted. All will join in the recitation of the Holy Name pledge.

Other events are a two-hour reception Wednesday night at Parkman Bandstand, with Archbishop Cushing and Mayor Hynes as speakers, and a solemn pontifical mass Thursday at 10 a. m. at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

Barnes Sees Fish Bidding Collusion

Atty. Gen. Barnes urged a special legislative commission today to investigate the possibility of collusive bidding by wholesalers during auctioning of fish.

Barnes said the commission, which is investigating the fishing industry in Massachusetts, should seek to discovered what happens to fish from the time it is auctioned in Boston, Gloucester and New Bedford until it reaches the housewife.

The Attorney-General, charging the Atlantic Fishermen's Union had its "own Gestapo to bring evidence into kangaroo courts and did anything it wanted regardless of law," declared his restraint of trade case against the union in superior court had proved fish were thrown away from vessels at sea.

Barnes said he had talked with Patrick McHugh, head of the union, and told him the State's only interest was in seeing fish was sold at a fair price. He quoted McHugh as saying the housewife would pay the same, regardless of the auction price, and said that McHugh refused to help him get evidence to that effect.

"I have no idea what happens to fish after it leaves the auction room," Barnes said. "It takes an army of help to process the fish.

"The cost of fish goes up 2 times after it leaves the wholesalers. Whether there is any restraint of trade there is for this commission to determine.

"During the Superior Court hearings it was charged by union officials that wholesalers put in collusive bids. Whether that is so I am not prepared to say.

"How much of a spread there is between what price it is sold for at auction and when it goes to the housewife is something for this commission to investigate. It is for you to determine whether there are any restraints of trade after it is auctioned, and if there are any my office is ready to act.

"If another group than the fishermen's union is acting in restraint of trade, my office is open for you to present such evidence if you unearth any.

"I am not here to recommend or advocate new legislation. Whether you wish to recommend more authority for the necessaries of life division of the State Labor and Industries Department is for you to decide. It would be worthy of consideration. Capt. McHugh and counsel for the fishermen's union said you can't stop chaos in the fish industry until you get some authority to deal with the matter."

Asst. Atty. Gen. George Fingold told the commission crews of Boston fishing vessels are refusing to bring in pollock, which are running in abundance and will continue to through December. He said no pollock is being landed today in Boston, while in December, 1946, more than 4,000,000 pounds were landed in Boston and sold for prices of from 1 to 3 cents at auction. He said that the fishermen refuse to bring pollock into Boston and other low-priced fish because of low price.

Fingold said that vessels arriving Monday or Tuesday cannot sail again until Friday under an union edict of the last four or five days.

DOUBLE WEDDING FOR GRANDMA AND GRANDDAUGHTER —A most unusual wedding ceremony had just been held before this quartet embraced in Los Angeles. Truman Passes Aid Puzzle to Congress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (INS)—President Truman met with congressional leaders and top administration aides in a two and a half hour emergency conference today and told them there was no way to aid Europe in its food crisis save through congressional action.

Sen. Lucas (.) of Illinois, one of the conferees, quoted Mr. Truman as saying he would ask the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the House and Senate Appropriations group to evolve a program.

Lucas implied a special session of Congress would be deferred pending reports from the committees.

House Majority Leader Halleck (R.) of Indiana declared on leaving the conference:

"There was no meeting of minds. But there are certain things the President is going to do."

Sen. Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan, disclosed that Mr. Truman soon will issue a statement on the results of the conference. The White House announced the statement would be made later today.

The congressional leaders disclosed that the president outlined in detail the European food crisis and stressed the urgent necessity of stop-gap aid.

They said the four-year, 22 billion dollar Marshall Plan for aid to western Europe was not discussed.

Lucas declared:

"The President told us there was no way to get any funds from the Export-Import Bank or any other government source without congressional action."

McGrath Awaits Talk With Truman

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 29 (AP)—Sen. J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, chosen for the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee, told reporters here today he was steering clear of political issues until he had a chance to talk with the President.

McGrath, arriving from Washington, said he wanted to take care of some personal business in Providence and would return to the capital either tonight or tomorrow morning.

McGrath said he would lunch with Mayor Dennis R. Roberts of Providence, an influential Democrat in Rhode Island, and would confer this afternoon with Gov. John O. Pastore.

Spread of Cholera Isolating Egypt

CAIRO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Fear of a spreading cholera epidemic gripped the Mediterranean area today as travel was virtually cut off to and from Egypt, where 140 suspected cases of the disease have been reported to date. Eleven died yesterday.

The governments of Iraq, Iran, Palestine, Syria and Lebanon have notified their Cairo consulates not to issue visas to travelers from Egypt unless they produced certificates of anticholera vaccination.

Wife's Warrant Reveals Bigamy

Charles Chaffee, 26, of Warren st., Charlestown, was held in $2500 for the grand jury today after pleading guilty to bigamy before Judge John F. Gilmore in Charlestown court. He was arrested after Lowell police sent Boston authorities a non-support warrant sworn out by Wife No. 1, the former Jeanette Plotkin, 28, of Lowell, who said he married her in 1945.

When officers went to Chaffee's home they found he had married Letitia Williams, 23, of Charlestown, only a week ago. Both wives were in court but were not called upon to tell their stories.

Gunmoll Suspect A Flop Acting as Her Own Counsel

HELEN WHITEHEAD, 17
Wollaston Girl Held in Holdup
Record-American Photo by Harry Simard

Her hair restored to its natural brown color, Helen Whitehead, 17, Taylor st., Wollaston, who allegedly took part in the holdup of a South End loan shop as an artificial blonde, undermined her own cause today when she cross-examined the holdup victim in the courtroom of Judge Adlow. As a result of the hearing, the girl and Patrick McGovern, 29, Eustis st., Roxbury, married and the father of three children, were held for the grand jury on charges of armed robbery and conspiracy to rob.

McGovern and William Walsh, 37, Yeoman st., Roxbury, were also held for the grand jury in the armed robbery of the Lenox Liquor store, Washington st., South End, conspiracy to rob and carrying weapons.

All three pleaded not guilty. Bail for the girl, described by police as a parolee from the Lancaster School for Girls, was set at $5000. The men were held in $10,000 each.

Loot from the loan shop holdup totaled $12 and several cheap watches, and the haul from the South End liquor store was placed at more than $400.

Acting as her own defense counsel, the girl, allowed to sit outside the dock where her two silent co-defendants sat, leaped to her feet to question Bertha Weinberger, Johnson rd., Dorchester, employe of the loan shop.

"You say you saw bullets in the gun?" the girl asked.

"Yes," said the employe.

"Well, for your information," said the girl, "that gun not capable of firing a bullet because I had smashed the barrel. Besides, I went through the drawers of the safe . . ."

Bertha Weinberger

"Oh, you admit that?," interposed Judge Adlow.

"Yes," she replied, "but I didn't take a thing from the safe. As I say, the gun couldn't be fired because I . . . "

"Well," said the juge, "you certainly helped your case a lot, haven't you.?"

The loan shop employe testified McGovern and the girl, her hair dyed blonde, had entered the shop and held her at gunpoint while the safe was rifled.

McGovern, she said, warned her to keep her mouth shut or "I'll blow your head off."

The girl was taken into custody early Saturday morning when she walked into the Roxbury Crossing police station to inquire about McGovern and Walsh, arrested only an hour earlier at Albany and Weber sts., South End, in a stolen ice cream truck.

Godless Men Fear A-Bomb, Says Cleric

The thought of atomic warfare is feared by millions of people throughout the world who never feared God, Rev. Dr. Frederick W. Norwood of Montreal, today told 350 Greater Boston Protestant clergymen at a mission for ministers in St. Paul's Cathedral.

"Pessimists," Dr. Norwood said, "are talking about the possible destruction of civilization through atomic warfare. The issue is not new. Only the method is modern and the actors are little finite men.

"The position is rather ironical. Having turned away from the infinite God we now prostrate ourselves before the most illusive and inconspicuous entity that man can conceive—the atom."

The meeting was sponsored by the evangelism department of the Massachusetts Council of Churches of which Rev. Aaron N. Meckel, minister of the First Congregational Church of Braintree, is chairman. Rev. Dr. Frank Jennings is executive secretary of the council.

$170,000 Blaze In Nashua Probed

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 29—A general alarm fire, which destroyed the Park Theater Building at an estimated loss of $170,000 and for hours threatened the city's business district, was under investigation by State and local authorities today.

Four firemen were hurt in the long battle with flames while 10 others were overcome by smoke. All had returned to duty today after overnight hospitalization.

As far as could be determined, the blaze started in the cellar of the century-old building and spread rapidly, feeding on photographic films in the theater and paint and shotgun shells stored in the basement of a first floor hardware store.

5 DIE IN BLAZING MANSION

MANILA (INS)—Word reached Manila that five persons burned to death when a fire of undetermined origin destroyed a palatial country house.

Ohio Schoolgirl, 16, Slain With Hammer

MARION, O., Sept. 29 (AP)—Sheriff Leroy Retterer said today the body of 16-year-old Roxie Ann Green, missing Prospect High School sophomore, had been found near Norton, O., and that a 32-year-old man had admitted killing her.

The sheriff said Ray Sheppard, a neighbor of the Green's, had signed a statement allegedly admitting he hit her on the head with a hammer shortly after picking her up as she walked the three miles to her country home Sept. 20, after meeting the last bus following a football game.

Retterer said Sheppard denied making improper advances to the girl.

Sheppard broke down during questioning this morning following an all-day grilling yesterday, the sheriff said. He took officials to a lonely country road east of Norton and pointed out where the girl's body lay in some bushes alongside a bank by the road.

"There appeared to be no effort to conceal the body," Retterer said.

Authorities were seeking the hammer which Sheppard said he used. He told them he threw it away, and that it came from the car's tool kit.

Miss Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Green, had been the object of a state-wide search.

Lever Bros. Soap, Shortening Up

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 29 (AP)—Lever Brothers, manufacturers of soap and shortening, reported today that the firm was following an industry trend by raising wholesale prices of its soap products by approximately 10 per cent and its all-vegetable shortening by about 3 per cent, effective today.

The company said that raw materials had recently advanced 71 per cent in price. The statement said the soap industry had been a leader in the effort to keep prices down by making three price reductions within the past six months.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Proctor & Gamble Co. today announced a 10 per cent increase in the wholesale price of toilet, laundry, flake and powdered soaps, effective immediately. The wholesale price of Crisco, a vegetable shortening, was boosted 3 per cent, effective immediately.

Capture Third Salem Jail Fugitive in Ohio

Rudolph Limauro, 19, of Lynn, one of four youths who made a spectacular break from Salem Jail Aug. 10, was seized in Columbus, O., by police and FBI agents, State Police announced today.

His capture left only one of the quartet, Joseph Bowers, 22, of Salem, still at large. He is believed to be in the Ohio area.

Rudolph Limauro

Limauro was trapped and taken into custody as a result of information furnished investigators by James W. McDonald, 20, of Worcester, who was captured by Columbus police a week ago after they found a veritable arsenal in his room.

McDonald is being held in the Ohio city for the grand jury on charges of burglary, grand larceny and auto theft. Police of numerous other cities also want him on a variety of charges and it is doubtful that he will be returned to Salem jail for some time.

Limauro, however, is expected to be returned here to face trial on a jail breaking charge. He had been serving an 18-month term for auto larceny at the time of the bank.

Bowers was last seen Aug. 15 when he escaped a trap which resulted in the capture of the fourth member of the escape quartet, Richard Wysocki, 20, of Salem. Wysocki and Bowers had separated in a Beverly field shortly before the former was captured, police said.

McDonald and Limauto headed westward soon after the break, and, according to McDonald, blazed a cross-country trail of crime in a score of cities and towns between here and Columbus, O., before his capture last week.

The youth said he had obtained work as a magazine solicitor and that Limauto was working as a drug store clerk.

EGG-RETRIEVING COLLIE'S SPECIALTY

YARMOUTH, Me., Sept. 29 (AP)—Sheep-herding may be the traditional farm chore of collie dogs but Leverett D. Walsh's collie, Lady, is a hen and egg specialist.

"I got tired crawling into shelters for eggs so I trained Lady to do it," said Walsh, who keeps 600 hens.

The 20-month-old dog fetches eggs in her mouth and has been trained to place them carefully in Walsh's hand.

The dog goes into action when Walsh said "Lady, go get an egg." She also retrieves hens—undamaged—when they stray off the range.

Quebec Elopers Hit Snag in N. E.

NEW LONDON, Ct., Sept. 29 (AP)—An inquisitive state policeman yesterday blasted the dream of a new life, in a new country, for a young Quebec couple.

Pierette Noel, 21, and Jude Pelletier, 22, of Bienville Levis, Quebec were picked up by Officer Arthur P. Kathe of Groton Barracks, while hitch-hiking toward Rhode Island. Their case has been turned over to the Immigration Authorities.

The young couple said their life in Quebec had been "very sad and difficult." They heard of the marvelous life in the United States from French Canadians who had gone to Pawtucket and Woonsocket and decided to marry there and build a new life. They crossed the border at Niagara Falls, and started hitch-hiking toward Rhode Island.

Truman Pens Note of Cheer To Boy Crippled by Burns

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 29 (AP)—Jimmy Wisehart, 11, who suffered such severe leg burns in a freak accident last month that doctors aren't sure he'll ever walk again, read and reread a letter from President Truman in his bed at Riley Hospital here today.

Unable to learn how Mr. Truman learned of his plight, the boy said:

"I'm thrilled to death. I just can't get over the President sending me a letter."

Jimmy and his brother Russell were testing a model airplane when the whirling propeller of a new rubber-band motor struck the head of a match.

The match, which they were using to glue tiny parts together, ignited, and the propeller hurled it on Jimmy's clothing.

Russell caught Jimmy as the younger boy ran screaming from the garage and rolled him in the grass to extinguish the flames. For a month, Jimmy has been undergoing a tedious, tiring process of skin grafting as doctors seek to save his legs.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wisehart of Medora, Ind., have been at his bedside constantly.

But a new message of encouragement reached Jimmy. It was typewritten on White House stationery, signed in ink, and read as follows:

"Dear Jimmy:

"I am glad to send you this personal note of cheer and good wishes because of my interest in the brave spirit which you are now displaying.

"With your many friends counting on you, I know you will continue to be courageous and that you will not let them down.

"My very best wishes to you.

"Very sincerely yours,

"Harry S. Truman."

Film Colony Probe to Expose Card-Holding Communists

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—Actual card-carrying members of the Communist Party in the film industry will be revealed during the forthcoming congressional hearings on Hollywood Reds, it was learned here.

Identification of some prominent members of the motion picture colony as outright Communists will be supplied through introduction of their party cards and party names.

Similar specific evidence of Communist penetration of the world's motion picture capital, gathered by former FBI agents now on the staff of the House committee on un-American activities, will be presented at the inquiry opening Oct. 20.

In addition to the 40 prominent Hollywood names among the subpoenaed witnesses, Hanns Eisler will be recalled before the House committee.

UNMASKED BY PROBERS

Hanns, Hollywood composer and brother of Comintern agent Gerhart Eisler, was unmasked before the committee last week as the Soviet-appointed director of global revolutionary music.

Following an exhaustive airing of the attempted manipulations of immigration laws by New Deal bureaucracy—as the result of pressure by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and others for the admission of the Austrian-born Hanns—the committee recommended his prosecution for perjury, passport fraud and then deportation.

Committee chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R.) of New Jersey, is awaiting word from the Justice Department on these recommen-

BARS DEPARTURE

Rep. Thomas has issued a committee ukase against Eisler leaving the country until the committee calls him again on Communist matters in Hollywood. He will be particularly questioned about his frequent "social" contacts with Soviet diplomatic officials in Los Angeles.

Thomas termed the recently concluded Hanns Eisler hearing a pre-view of the coming Hollywood hearing.

Freedom Train to Exhibit State Historical Treasures

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts will prseent its own exhibition of historical documents next week during observance of Rededication Week, which will be climaxed by arrival of the Freedom Train, bearing others of the nation's most treasured papers.

Plans for exhibiting these papers in the Hall of Flags at the State House during that week were made after it was realized that there were restrictions which would prevent their removal from the State to be placed aboard the Freedom Train for exhibition throughout the country.

One, the "History of Plymouth Plantation," by Capt. William Bradford, under the deed of gift, must remain in the custody of the State's governors and cannot be removed.

Other priceless documents include the Roger Williams amnesty; the Anne Hutchinson papers; ratification of the Bill of Rights and an order assigning Paul Revere as a messenger for the committee of safety just before the outbreak of the Revolution.

The exhibit will be open to the public throughout the week of Oct. 5 to 12 as part of the State's contribution to the observance of Re-dedication week.

Numerous luncheons, rallies and other observances have been planned for each day of the week with State, city and patriotic leaders taking part.

The Freedom Train, now being visited by thousands in New York city, will be open to the public here Oct. 11 and 12.

Gov. Bradford, Mayor Hynes and Boston school children will take part in North Station exercises welcoming the train to Boston on Oct. 11. It will be open to the public at the station from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The following day it will be moved to South Station and will be open to the public there during the same hours.

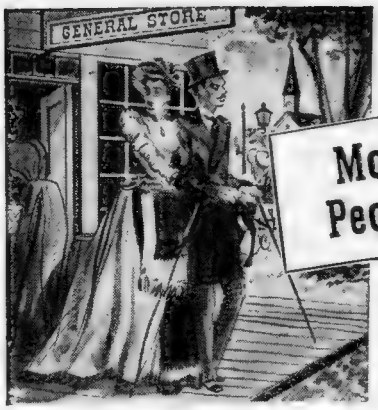
BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, MON., SEPT. 29, 1947



1883—The combined population of the five states we serve was less than three and a half million.

1947—Today, the combined population is just about twice as big—more than six million and a half.

1883—Less than a million and a half people were gainfully employed in this company's territory.

1947—Business has grown, and now more than twice as many people are earning their living here—just about three million people in all.

1883—About 15,000 telephones were operated by this company in the sections of New England which it then served.

AND NOW IN 1947

2,000,000 Telephones* to Serve You

Since 1883, we've served New England's telephone needs . . . meeting the demands of growing population, growing business and widening use of telephone service.

More than anything else, the number of telephones now in service is an indication of how big and busy New England itself has become. For, it was in response to this section's growing need for service that we expanded our telephone facilities year by year.

In the days ahead—as in the past—our aim will be to provide New England with both the quantity and quality of telephone service which it wants and needs.

Kidnap Dad Faces Extradition Threat

Arrested in Bloxom, Va., and charged with the airplane kidnaping of his 3-year-old daughter, Roberta, from her Nantucket home last Friday, Aubrey L. Owens will be given a chance to return to Nantucket voluntarily. If he refuses, steps will be taken to extradite him, Dist. Atty. Edward G. Lajoie announced today.

Arraigned on a fugitive warrant by Virginia authorities after they had been informed tha Nantucket police held a warrant charging him with kidnaping his daughter, Owens was held there under bond for hearing early next month

According to Nantucket police, Owens came here last week to visit his daughter whose custody had been awarded to his wife Mrs. Heathie Owens in a separate support action last January.

On Friday afternoon, police said, Owens was allowed to take Roberta for a walk. Instead, he took a New England Central Airways plane from Nantucket to New Bedford. Thence he went by bus to Providence where he is believed to have boarded another plane..

Elizabeth's Gown Plans Kept Secret

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth—keeping secret the details of her wedding dress—came home from Balmoral Castle in Scotland today to carry on preparations for her marriage Nov. 20 to Lt. Philip Mountbatten.

All the belles of Mayfair—and a lot of commercial dress manufacturers besides—were wondering about the details of the wedding gown, but neither the princess nor the Buckingham Palace press officer nor royal dressmaker Norman Hartnell would do any talking.

Elizabeth herself decreed that no description should be given to the public until the day of the wedding.

$5,000,000 N. Y. Pier Fire Injures 100

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—A Hudson river pier was destroyed and 100 firemen were injured today in a $5,000,000 blaze—one of the most serious New York harbor dock fires in history.

All but 75 feet of the 1000-foot pier 57 crumbled and fell into the river from the effects of the 15-hour fire and the tons of water poured onto it by 80 pieces of fire-fighting equipment.

The still standing section of the creosote-soaked pier continued to smoulder and firemen fought to prevent the flames from spreading to piers 56 and 58.

None of the firemen was reported hurt seriously, although some were taken to hospitals.

There were no vessels at Pier 57 when the blaze first was reported at 7:30 o'clock last night However, the Grace liner, Santa Rita, scheduled to leave today for Chile, was moored at Pier 58 and was quickly moved out into the river for safety.

The blazed was designated as an eight-alarm fire by officials of the fire department and caused transmission of 35 fire bell signals, one of the greatest alarms in the department's history.

Saltonstall Aide Held in Car Death

Richard W. Portras, 20, clerk in the Washington office of Sen Saltonstall, was arraigned in East Cambridge District Court today following a crash between his automobile and the motorcycle of Francis J. Ronanowski, 26, Bedford, who died later at Cambridge Hospital

Portras, who lives in Salem, pleaded innocent to charges of driving under the influence of liquor and driving so as to endanger. Oct. 3 was set as a hearing date. The defendant was released on his personal recognizance.

Traffic Officer Robert A. Burns testified the automobile operated by Portras was in head-on collision on Fresh Pond ave. with the motorcycle operated by the Bedford young man

Courses In Hearing Set For 30,000 War II Vets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Veterans Administration announced today the establishment of a special program of medical rehabilitation for veterans with service-connected hearing impairments. About 30,000 veterans of World War II are estimated to be eligible. VA has contracted with 27 universities and other institutions to give all or part of the rehabilitation course which includes a series of hearing and speech tests, auditory training, lip reading instruction, speech correction and the fitting of a hearing aid if necessary. Among these are the Institute of Speech Correction, Boston.

Stop Moscow Or War Sure, Editor Warns

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (INS)—The Washington Post declared in an editorial today that "A war is as sure as death if we continue to let Moscow's hirelings kick our citizens and prestige around."

The newspaper asserted that the Soviet Union is "straining every nerve to keep the world disordered." The editorial said the one thing Russia is waiting for before picking up Europe "either by overt aggression or at a sort of fire sale" is an American depression.

Pointing out that all the signs of soaring inflation indicate an eventual slump, the Post proposed a seven-point "program for the crisis." Highlights re:

1—Soviet Russia must be shown that we mean business at Trieste . . . "It is time to tell these two-bit barbarians to cut out the nonsense."

2—Send wheat and coal to hungry Europe before millions starve. The editorial noted that otherwise the wheat "will disappear down the mouths of American pigs."

3—An extra session of Congress should be called without delay to give President Truman money and power to act in the crisis.

4—Exports, for the duration of the crisis, must be channeled over government desks.

5—All import duties on scarce items at home should be lifted for the duration of the shortage "and punitive taxes on magarine should be lifted."

6—Introduce stiff margins on commodity exchange transactions and otherwise end speculation.

7—Give the President allocation powers over materials, non-critical as well as critical.

Cranberry Sauce Will Be Cheaper

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—At least one winter-time food—cranberry sauce—likely will be cheaper this year than last, federal experts said today. The bureau of agricultural economics said leading packers have named lower wholesale prices. The crop, they said, will be abundant.

This year it's Washington and Oregon increases in cranberry production that will give those states a record crop, while Massachusetts, New Jersey and Wisconsin, expect slightly smaller crops.

Reds Dig In, B. C. Fund Raisers Told

Bluntly charging that Communists and their stooges had infiltrated many of the nation's cherished institutions, former Judge John J. Burns, in a keynote address opening the $600,000 fund-raising campaign for the Boston College Business School, pleaded for public support in the drive.

"They have infiltrated the state and national governments, the press and radio, many of our schools and colleges, and in some cases, sad to relate, even the pulpit," Judge Burns asserted.

More than 300 members of the Boston College alumni, students and business and community groups attended the rally at the Parker House.

"It is terrifying to know that if we should clash with Russia," said Judge Burns, "much of this nation's power to wage war would be crippled by these enemies within.

"It is tragic to contemplate that this cancerous growth has been hastened by many well-meaning and kind-hearted but unknowing persons who literally fell for the slogans democracy, liberalist and liberty.

"Consequently, a community has a vital stake in a school which teaches our youth the only means for fighting the brazen march of paganism often dressed in the best of fashion and frequently speaking with tones that sound cultural. But a paganism that can be conquered, not by defeatism but by a vigorous battle for the Lord."

British Dollar Famine Puts Mae West Off Air

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Mae West was under a ban from the British airwaves today—but only because of the dollar shortage, BBC said.

An official of the British Broadcasting Corp. said the American actress was taken off a projected program because the British Treasury insisted BBC cut down dollar payments.

"Experience is the best teacher... in playing table tennis or choosing a cigarette," says Mary Reilly INTERNATIONAL TABLE-TENNIS STAR

A table-tennis enthusiast since childhood, Mary Reilly plays a fast, brilliant game—gave exhibitions for thousands of GI's on USO tours.

MORE PEOPLE ARE SMOKING CAMELS THAN EVER BEFORE!

AS A TABLE-TENNIS STAR, Mary Reilly has had years of experience—in tournaments, and touring with the USO in exhibitions. As a smoker, she had an enlightening experience during the wartime cigarette shortage.

Like so many other smokers, she smoked—and compared—several different brands of cigarettes. That's when she found that cool, mild, flavorful Camels suit her best!

Smoker after smoker... all over the country... had that same experience. They tried and compared... found Camels the "choice of experience."

Try Camels yourself. Let your own experience—your "T-Zone"—tell you why more people are smoking Camels than ever before!

YOUR "T-ZONE" WILL TELL YOU... T for Taste... T for Throat... That's your proving ground for any cigarette. See if Camels don't suit your "T-Zone" to a "T."

According to a Nationwide survey:

MORE DOCTORS SMOKE CAMELS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE

Three nationally known independent research organizations asked 113,597 doctors—in every branch of medicine—to name the cigarette they smoked. More doctors named Camel than any other brand.

European Socialism Is Gray Communism

MR. HENRY J. TAYLOR, noted author and commentator, reported recently over a national radio network concerning his observations of economic and political conditions in Europe, and thus gave the American people a useful background of facts for the current problem of European relief.

The suspicion is strong in the minds of the American people that the real need for relief in Europe still lacks accurate definition, and that the amount of money the distressed nations are asking for relief is not merely fantastically large but grossly excessive.

Mr. Taylor's observations lend confirmation to this suspicion.

"In fact, throughout Europe," he said in his broadcast, "sometimes you can't help thinking that the local governments are CONSISTENTLY AND SYSTEMATICALLY OVERSTATING THEIR NEEDS AND THEIR DIFFICULTIES in order to GET AS MUCH HELP AS POSSIBLE FROM AMERICA."

Several European countries, said Mr. Taylor, are making notable progress in their postwar recovery, and largely by their own means—Italy, Belgium and Switzerland being conspicuous in this regard.

"Living conditions in these three countries are better than any place in western Europe," he reported.

"The people are working hard, their governments for one reason or another are largely LEAVING THEM ALONE, and the countries are GETTING AHEAD."

In fact, the ability of some European nations to achieve a good measure of recovery by their own means despite the war and the failure of others to do so indicates that the war was not the sole cause of current European economic distress and probably not even the major cause.

NEXT TO GERMANY, Mr. Taylor says, the worst two examples of distressed nations in Europe are Great Britain and France, both being unquestionably in dire distress but ironically they are also the richest nations in Europe and among the countries capable of any measure of self-help they should be the leaders.

Mr. Taylor points out that it is not the war that burdens them now, but the political changes they have made since the war.

"Both countries," he remarks, "are in the middle of a gigantic Socialist-Labor experiment which, instead of producing the good things of life as promised, is producing only shortages instead."

Under their Socialist governments, Britain and France have been unable to make use of their own vast resources, either for the rehabilitation of Europe or their own recovery.

"Now the proposition behind this is called State Socialism," comments Mr. Taylor.

"It is a kind of GRAY COMMUNISM.

"It develops more and more towards the compulsion of hard-fisted Communism in some of its manifestions, as its gentler measures fail."

It is an important background of facts which Mr. Taylor has thus provided for American appraisal in the matter of European relief, and it should contribute valuably to our ultimate decision in the matter—which should fix the limits of American largess in accordance with primary American interests.

AID FOR BLIND

THE National Braille Press, a charitable organization, needs volunteers to assist in the making of hand transcriptions for the blind and will give complete information to all persons who telephone Commonwealth 6000.

Men and women who share their sight and spare hours in this manner with the handicapped will be engaged in a truly worthwhile work, particularly in view of the fact that many of those who require this cooperation are veterans of the recent war.

But words are things, and a small drop of ink,
Falling like dew upon a thought, produces
That which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think.
BYRON.

CASTING ASIDE that foolish vanity called modesty, I must say I have some wonderful ideas. Take that idea of mine of having a cattle ranch. I really had something there. I never did anything about it, and what do I find out? Why, sir, the farmers or cattle ranchers are now getting 70 cents of every $1 a consumer spends for meat! If I had gone through with my brilliant idea I should be driving a shiny new streamlined high powered motor car, wearing a large cowboy hat, patronizing the $50 mutuel windows and whistling "Give Me My Ranch and Cattle."

PLEASE NOTE: "The U. S. Government had a surplus of girdles. Probably obtained from the supply department of the Women's Reserve of the U. S. Marine Corps." Says an ex-GI Joe of Detroit. "So, where did they hold the sale of these girdles? In the city where the demand for same is greatest, Chicago. No doubt they had to call out the riot squad when those stout Chicago mamas started battling for bargains in girdles. In any event, it shows some of our government officials are not so dumb."

PASSING BY: "Pudge" Heffelfinger. Football great of the yesteryear. Was selected as guard on the first All-American team named by Walter Camp. That was in 1889. But that doesn't make "Pudge" the dean of All-America football players, because Alonzo Stagg, still active as a coach, was named as end on the same team. Heffelfinger has always maintained linemen should not crouch, but should stand straight up. He may be right about that. A lineman is more relaxed and consequently more alert standing up than crouched down like a guy waiting to take off on a 100-yard dash . . . Cicely Courtneidge. Brilliant British comedienne. Making her first appearance in the U. S. A. since she was here with the revue "By the Way" in 1925. Cicely is very clever. But I still think the funniest British comedienne I ever saw was Vesta Victoria. Especially when she sang "Waiting at the Church."

THAT DOG AGAIN: Everybody is now talking about Brooklyn. Interest in what I have for breakfast seems at a low ebb. So I guess I will have to just talk about my dog. An expert in canine psychology says our pup has an "active mind." That he is a real hunting dog and not an animal who enjoys sitting around doing nothing. I have noticed that. Guess I'll either have to take up hunting myself or send him to the country for the hunting season.

BRIEFLY: The Massachusetts film censors, after looking over a certain film, issued these instructions: "Eliminate scene showing man kicking girl. Note: This elimination required only for Sunday showings" . . . The future home of Lt. Philip Mountbatten and Princess Elizabeth is described in a British magazine as "a medium sized country house." It has 28 bedrooms

DANCING: Seems I popped off saying the rumba and the samba were dances that took up too much room to be practical for the small dance floors of most night clubs. Five of the charming instructors of Fred Astaire's dancing school have sent me a round robin letter saying I am wrong. They say they will gladly teach me how to dance the rumba and the samba "on a dime." They have a pupil.

HAPPY PAIR: As for romantic married couples named Romeo and Juliet: The Perretis, Romeo and Juliet, of the Borough of the Bronx, were happily married for 20 years. Juliet, the mother of three children, recently passed on. "She was the world's most wonderful woman," says Romeo Perretti.

MULES & MEN: Her husband is given to the excess use of profanity at the most inopportune times. And she finds it most embarrassing. So says the young wife of a U. S. Navy man. "How can I cure him of this habit?" she asks. "Any suggestion from your Mules & Men experts will be appreciated." Mark Twain, who had been a Mississippi river pilot in his youth, had a very strong vocabulary. When his wife complained of his profanity, Mark originated substitutes for swear words such as "jiminy crickets," "dod blast it," "gosh darn it," etc. Maybe the aforementioned Navy husband could originate some profanity substitutes that would relieve his feelings as well as the swear words and thus cease embarrassing his cute little wife.

ASIDES: We have finally found a song that satisfied the subscriber who asked for a ditty about a girl named Nina. It is "A Girl Like Nina That All Men Desire," from the musical show "Ball at the Savoy," words by Oscar Hammerstein II, music by Paul Abraham . . . Now there has been originated a battery radio set that fits in the palm of the hand. It has a 100-mile reception range and full band selection.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—Gov. Earl Warren of California recently made a speech to the State Bar Association in which he openly acknowledged the challenge to government of the new underworld in and around the amusement industry.

Westbrook Pegler

Hollywood and Los Angeles are the areas of worst corruption. Reviewing this growth, Governor Warren said that in the course of seven boom years California's population had increased by 2,500,000.

"The growth of this great western empire simply must not be hampered by the vile stupidities of the underworld," said he.

SAID HE, but the corruption of government was flagrantly apparent in the brutal treatment of the pregnant young American woman in the case involving Charlie Chaplin and she was railroaded out of town with a few dollars for annoying him.

Chaplin is an alien and, after all his years in the country, probably could not receive the privilege of citizenship even if he applied, and might be permanently barred.

This corruption of government by the underworld has been seen again in the ridiculous scramble of some of the Los Angeles police in the case of the murder of Bugsy Siegel.

Siegel was listed by the narcotics bureau of the Treasury, for his specialty in crime was narcotics.

Yet he enjoyed social entree among that rags-to-riches Hollywood element who take in so much money that their problem is not to get more but to get no more.

SHORTLY AFTER Siegel was shot as he sat with a friend known as Allen Smiley, an American woman married to an Italian and living in Italy was interviewed by transatlantic telephone.

Her name is Countess Dorothy di Frasso. For years she lived in Hollywood and much of that time she was a favorite topic of Ed Sullivan of the New York Daily News. The publicity for the countess amounted to a propaganda campaign. Sullivan is no more careless, if that is the word for this attitude, than many other professional gossips.

The countess deplored Siegel's death and expressed admiration of his personal qualities.

THE NEW YORK NEWS of Jan. 12, 1939, under a Los Angeles dateline, reported that the countess had been a passenger aboard a "hell ship" on a cruise for treasure in the Pacific, off Mexico, with a crew composed in part at least of New Yorkers, including Bugsy Siegel.

The dispatch said R. B. Hoffman, the master of the ship, told the Los Angeles grand jury that the countess had begged him to shoot Champ Segal, one of the sailors, as a mutineer.

Champ Segal is a well known personality along Broadway and in Harlem. His reputation is bad. He is not known to be related to the late Bugsy Siegel. Hoffman said Bugsy tried to usurp his command of the ship.

The United Press reported that the ship was under charter to Mario Bello, who was described as the stepfather of the late Jean Harlow.

This is not an attempt to elucidate the events aboard. It is merely an attempt to show the easy association of Hollywood "society" with the underworld.

ANOTHER OLD NEWS ITEM from California says Bugsy had denied in court that he had ever provided a hideout for the late Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, who subsequently went to the electric chair in Sing Sing.

A few days after Bugsy was murdered this summer, Florabel Muir wrote that "a good slice of Hollywood" had attended a cocktail party of the Eddie Cantors, who, of course, are acknowledged social leaders. The talk, Miss Muir wrote, was mostly of Bugsy, the "gangland princeling."

Miss Muir is one of the few Hollywood journalists who actually learned to be a reporter working out of a city room. She never became a "celebrity" herself.

Blackmail and the shakedown in any guise, and these arts have many guises, are out of her line. You never find her brazenly proclaiming in her copy that some blackguard drawing $1000 a week or more as a disc jockey in some dive is her professional property. She does not own any piece of any of them.

FLORABEL WROTE: "Cantor said, 'You know, I liked the guy. (Bugsy Siegel.) He was very generous. Once when I was raising money for charity at Las Vegas he came across with a sum that surprised me.'"

Several others spoke well of him, but the immediate point is that they all had met this vicious criminal socially in the normal Hollywood life.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29 (INS)—Van Johnson's friendship and admiration for Spencer Tracy is responsible for his acceptance of the role of the reporter in "State Of The Union." Last week, Robert Walker, who was to have played the part, stepped out because of illness.

Although the role is second fiddle to Tracy and Claudette Colbert, Van accepted it because he thought it was good for him, and because he has such confidence in Spencer Tracy, who gave him his first chance in "A Guy Named Joe."

Then, too, "State Of The Union" is a fine play, and with Frank Capra directing, it will give you a shot in the arm. Let's face it: His last two pictures, "High Barbaree" and "Romance of Rosy Ridge," were disappointing to his fans.

DANNY KAYE, Sylvia Fine and Jerry Wald have been looking at "The Man from Blankley's" and have practically decided on it for Danny's first at Warners. I can see how it could be tailored to fit Danny with not too much alteration. That's the hilarious comedy Jack Barrymore made for Warners in 1930, when Jack was one of our top farceurs. It's really a funny idea of mistaken identity in a London fog.

The talk that Danny has said he didn't want to be bothered with Sylvia's suggestions are too silly for words. They have been talking over stories nearly every day.

Sylvia will write special songs and typical Kaye situations to go with "The Man from Blankley's," which, of course, is straight comedy.

"I WOULD never deny any statement made by my wife," Richard Ney told me.

"Greer will always be tops with me."

This telephone conversation was just a few days after Greer had tearfully obtained a divorce and the judge had insisted that she make specific charges against Richard.

Greer had no wish to do anything to hurt him.

But that's all over and now young Ney is very excited about his career. He has written and sold a story titled "A Legend of Love" to an Argentine film company, and he and Alan Curtis will probably go there to play in his own yarn.

Richard has also had a Broadway stage offer, "The Lucky One," but show me the actor who can resist emoting in his own story.

JUST BEFORE Rita Hayworth took off for New York she and self-styled genius Welles agreed on a financial settlement and the final papers were signed. Now her lawyer, Frank Belcher, can file her actual complaint any day.

Rita Hayworth

Since Rita won't have to appear in court until around Oct. 20, she has two or three weeks to see the new shows, particularly "Born Yesterday," which she will do on the screen.

But first you'll see her as "Carmen," since a switch in plans puts this ahead of "Woman Order." The script of "Woman Order" isn't ready and "Carmen" is. However, this change doesn't affect Charles Vidor. He'll direct "Carmen" for Rita's new independent company, Beckworth.

Harry Cohen and his pretty Joan (Mrs. C.) are also en route to the big town.

THE UPLIFTERS CLUB, which has been the scene of so many parties, has been sold to William Wilkerson and Greg Bautzer. They plan to build a typical California hotel on the order of the Bel-Air, with bungalows and cabanas on the vast estate.

Extremely interesting is the plan for an Eleanor Tennant tennis club, which will have four courts and will bring some of our best known tennis players here. It will be on the order, only smaller, of the Forest Hills Tennis Club.

Eleanor was Alice Marble's coach, and she has been in charge of the Beverly Hills Tennis Club. She is very excited over the plans that Billy and Greg have had drawn up.

CHIT-CHAT: A flash from Cannes says that Maurice Chevalier and his old flame, Nita Raye, have taken up where they left off during the war.

Many people said they were married. She was his leading lady and he was devoted to her. Then they parted and the whisper was that Maurice was carrying a torch. But apparently they are together again and happier than ever.

He comes back to America next month, and the $64 question is—will she come with him?

When Ray McCarey went looking for a "Peg o' My Heart" he didn't have to go outside his own home. His own 19-year-old daughter Sharon, who is as pretty a colleen as you would find anywhere, will be the Peg in a revival of this famous old play which Ray is bringing to the screen.

Ray bought the rights from Buddy De Sylva and will make the picture as soon as he finishes "Queen for a Day."

Whenever I think of "Peg o' My Heart" I think of Marion Davies. Her "Peg" was one of the best pictures she made. And then there was Laurette Taylor, who created the role on the stage and for years played it.

It's a wholesome, heart-warming story, and I'm glad it's being revived.

GENE TIERNEY has been suspended by 20th Century-Fox for refusing to accept the role in "The Walls of Jericho" which brought her back from New York.

At the studio it was said that Gene felt Linda Darnell's role of Algeria was better than hers, although she has actually the lead.

This Gene denies, saying that while she would like to work for John Stahl, she could not see the part for her, and she had no hard feeling toward the studio.

The studio says that nothing is ready for Miss Tierney and that in the past she turned down "Anna and The King of Siam" and other important vehicles.

John Payne doesn't know whether he's sitting pretty for "Sitting Pretty" or not. Usually one of the most amiable of actors, Johnny kicked up his heels about going into this picture at 20th because he was miffed. He didn't like the idea of Vic Mature getting "Ballad of Furnace Creek"—a part Payne had his heart set on.

But because John is a really nice guy, he relented and said he'd do "Sitting Pretty" after all. Much to his surprise, the bosses didn't seem to care whether he did it or not.

Now—is he "sitting pretty"—or just sittin'?

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: The Hank Daniels welcomed a baby last week.

Mrs. Gene Fowler, who was operated on at St. Vincent's Hospital about six weeks ago, is being brought home. Gene is assured she will be able to walk again, which is good news to his and Agnes' many friends.

Jack Carson and Chili Williams a very surprising twosome at the Brown Derby. Since Doris Day came into his life there have been no dates with Chili. Doris, in the meantime, is seeing Axel Stordahl, the orchestra leader.

I wonder why Diana Barrymore so heatedly denied that she and her husband, John Howard, had separated, and then the next minute admitted it.

June Lockhart

June Lockhart, Gene's pretty actress daughter, and Bill Warwick, will soon have an announcement to make. His dad heads a big New York advertising firm.

Billy Wilder, with more stories to tell, was in a party with June Havoc and Bill Spiers. He says he got marvelous stuff in Germany for his picture, "A Foreign Affair."

Dolly Walker, who has been in Europe, is back looking wonderful.

Van Smith, who has been laid up in St. John's Hospital with rheumatic fever, was able to be moved to the Bel-Air hotel yesterday. He's been very sick.

Sat and chatted with Sister Kenny, who was having dinner with Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson at L'Aiglon. Sister motors to San Francisco because she wants to see the beautiful California country, and then she flies home, and later this week will be having dinner with her family in Australia.

Louis Hayward and his wife quietly separated about two weeks ago, but are now reconciled.

Tyrone Power leaves Johannesburg, South Africa, next Friday to pay a personal visit to Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethopia.

Esther Williams still isn't out of the woods with her ear infection. She's in bed, has a trained nurse, and is unable to talk to anyone.

Broadway's Voice

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—Jane Churchill, the blonde in the famous Tommy Dorsey-Jon Hall fracas of a couple of years back, has flown into Gotham to reclaim her old beau, tenor Saxophonist Allan Edgar of 52nd st. They may be secretly married by the time this hits print . . . Intimates say Milton Berle is "biding his time" until Joyce Matthews "gets Hollywood out of her system" and returns to him. He's sure she still loves him . . . Some of Doris Duke's millions are behind a soon-to-be-revived magazine about the theater . . . Insiders in the book world report that the Ludwig Bemelmans best seller, "Dirty Eddie," was heavily censored before it was released. The pages that never saw print were "too purple and libelous" . . . There's a short short story behind Ella Logan's decision to send her 17-year-old adopted war orphan, Annabelle, back to Europe . . . Hottest coast rumor of the year is the one about Louis B. Mayer being set to shift to Universal-International. It just won't be quashed.

GOTHAMITES are killing themselves trying to get tickets to the World Series, but Californian Earl "Madman" Muntz is said to have 30 tickets for all the series games. What's so "mad" about that? . . . Ann Miller is showing filmville to Orrin Lehman. He was linked with Lady Iris Mountbatten not many moons ago . . . Bill Odom's wife (he's the nice fellow who specializes in breaking round-the-world flight records) is allergic to elevators. Last week she walked down 39 flights in the Chrysler Building . . . Fred Kaplan, the criminal lawyer, and June Williams, the blonde dancing beauty, may surprise their pals by marrying early in November. June reminds people of Betty Hutton—to whom Freddie was once engaged . . . George Herrick, who was cleared in that Marguery Hotel gambling raid, is shopping for an East Side night club or restaurant.

VIVI STOKES' new flame is Jakie Webb of the Vanderbilt clan, and more recently of the military hoosegow society . . . Broadway loves money stories, and Broadwayites are buzzing over the report that a huge cache of Mussolini's cash has been uncovered in several New York banks . . . Local wolves have been gnashing their teeth trying to learn the identy of a raving beauty who sweeps into restaurants with four poodles on a leash, dines alone and rebuffs all offers. Let me help you, boys. She's Ilka Windisch, Australia's leading screen actress . . . The new fashion in auditions for musical comedies and the listening backers is to present them in Suite 119 at the Hotel Plaza. This week alone there were demonstrations of the Betty Comden-Adolph Green opus, "Bonanza Bound"; the Arnold Horwitt and Richard Lewine "Make Mine Manhattan;" and "Lead On, My Heart," by Dorothy Waring and Victor Rosen.

TOPS IN TOWN: Nancy Donovan's version of "A Little Bit Of Heaven' on stage at the Roxy . . . The Percy Faith Album (Majestic) . . . Lou Parker's satire on night club disc jockeys at Loew's State . . . The Dean Martin-Jerry Lewis hilarities at the Riviera . . . Bob Hilliard's new witty ditty, "Civilization" . . . and Marilyn Towne's thrushing—at the Boulevard . . . Desi Arnaz at the Paramount.

MARIE ALLISON, who figured prominently in the Hughes investigation, has planed to New York after a split-up with Howard . . . The mayor will be petitioned this week to have the name of City Hall Park changed to LaGuardia Park . . . Jimmy Stewart's new hand-holding companion is a California beauty, Helen Rickett . . . Danny Kaye and a contingent of Hollywood stars have chartered a special plane to fly them to New York for the World Series . . . "High Button Shoes" is looking for a new ingenue. The producers feel the Julia Styne-Sammy Cahn score rates a top singing voice . . . A missing Broadwayite needs $72,000 before he can return to Manhattan, according to the latest info. A peace offering to the Treasury Department . . . Betty George, the very Jane Russell-ish vocalist, has a millionaire horse-owner forgetting his nags.

TALK OF CAFE SOCIETY is the exotic painting of cattle heiress Mary Lou Schroeder that she unveiled herself at a big cocktail party . . . George Jessel and Tommey Adams are tiffing . . . Nick the Greek, the famous gambler, is supposed to have been on a losing streak. But suddenly he started to win at Las Vegas—and immediately presented a fabulous bracelet to his dinner companion of the evening (a lovely blonde) because he thought she brought him luck . . . WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 - John L. Sullivan gave me a very John L. Sullivanish look out of his fighting Irish pan and said:

"Did you ever hear how I got to be Secretary of the Navy?"

I said, ingratiatingly, that it was undoubtedly through pluck, perseverance, and unremitting service far beyond and above the call of duty.

"Nuts!" snapped Mr. Sullivan. "I wasn't going to give you any of that old guff. Few people know it, but I really got my start towards this job when I was a bluejacket in the first World War.

"I was about as lowly a bluejacket as you can be. Around about that time a batch of high-minded idealists began babbling about 'war aims.' The result was that a 'war aims school' was set up at Yale and we had to take time out from fighting the war to attend it.

"My immediate superior at this school was a tough master-at-arms, or 'Jimmy Legs.' He seemed to think we were at war just so he could ride hell out of John L. Sullivan.

"At that time our greatest naval hero was Adm. William Sowden Sims, the man who taught the Navy how to shoot. He was the sailor's god.

"I was walking down the street one day, wondering how I could murder this 'Jimmy Legs' and get away with it, when I saw a big picture of Adm. Sims in a store window. I went in and bought it. Then I sent it to a friend of mine in Washington with certain instructions.

"About a week later the picture came back inscribed as follows:

"'To John L. Sullivan—with very fond wishes for a fine naval career for my favorite nephew. Uncle Billy'.

"I left it on my bunk for the 'Jimmy Legs' to see.

"Although I never met Adm. Sims, and certainly can claim no relationship, his picture continued to serve me nobly. The other day, after the President announced my appointment, I received a note from my old bunking mate, Christopher Columbus Baldwin, now, by the decree of fate, a colonel in the Army. All Christopher Columbus wrote was:

"'I see Uncle Billy's picture is still working for you!'"

I SOUGHT this interview with John L. Sullivan because everybody hereabouts has been yapping for weeks about the big unification deal; the new setup of our armed forces under an overall organization for national security.

The papers have been full of it with stories about James V. Forrestal, the new Secretary of Defense; Kenneth C. Royall, the new Secretary of the Army; W. Stuart Symington, the new Secretary of the Air Force; and John L. Sullivan, the new Secretary of the Navy.

But I realized I really didn't know much about these four headmen of our military might except a lot of generalities.

LET'S START with the new Secretary of the Navy.

Mr. Sullivan, who is now 48, got the "John" from a great-grandfather who helped capture Fort William and Mary at the outset of the Revolutionary war, and the "L." from an uncle, Lawrence Harrington. He also borrowed heavily from New England tradition in his choice of a wife, marrying Priscilla Manning, one of the neighbor girls in his home town of Manchester, N. H.

Dancer's Cuban Death Trial Put Off

HAVANA, Sept. 29 (AP)—The trial of Patrice Schmidt, 22, Toledo, O., night club dancer, charged with killing John Lester Mee, young Chicago lawyer, was postponed today for a second time, on the ground that she was ill. Date for the new trial was not announced.

France Seeks To Take Greek Row From UN

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 29 (AP)—France called on the United States today to withdraw demands that the United Nations Assembly find three Soviet Balkan satellites, guilty of aggression against Greece.

In an avowed attempt to compromise the dispute between Russia and the United States over the Balkan problem, French Minister of State Delbos also appealed to the Soviet Union and its satellites to co-operate toward seeking a peaceful settlement.

Delbos spoke before the Assembly's political committee after hearing Greece's Deputy Premier Tsaldaris declare Greece's northern neighbors Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia—are boldly committing acts of aggression while the UN seeks a solution.

Tsaldaris charged the Soviet bloc had not denied it was sending aid to Greek guerrilla fighters, but instead had resorted to evasion and delaying tactics in an effort to becloud the issue.

One-Pound Premature Baby Expected to Live

OWATONNA, Minn., Sept. 29 (AP) — Dr. Lyle V. Berghs reported a baby girl weighing "about a pound" born Friday to his sister had passed her 48th hour of life and that the infant had a good chance to survive.

The baby was born three months prematurely to Mrs. Warren Gray, 33, of Waseca, Minn.

SEIZE FILIPINO OFFICIALS

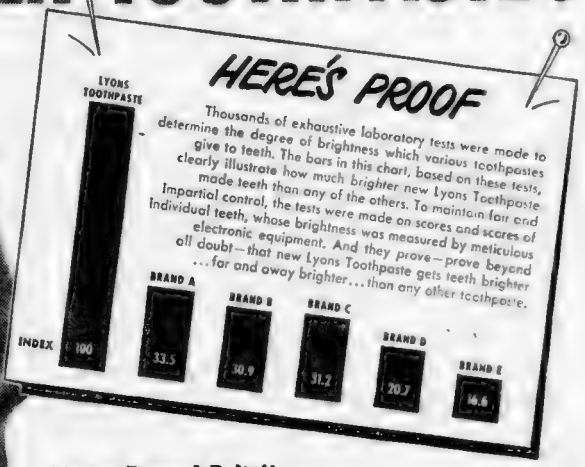
NEW KIND OF TOOTHPASTE GETS TEETH 2½ TO 5½ TIMES BRIGHTER THAN ANY OTHER TOOTHPASTE!

HERE'S PROOF



Thousands of exhaustive laboratory tests were made to determine the degree of brightness which various toothpastes give to teeth. The bars in this chart, based on these tests, clearly illustrate how much brighter new Lyons Toothpaste made teeth than any of the others. To maintain fair and impartial control, the tests were made on scores and scores of individual teeth, whose brightness was measured by meticulous electronic equipment. And they prove—prove beyond all doubt—that new Lyons Toothpaste gets teeth brighter ...far and away brighter... than any other toothpaste.

Almost Beyond Belief! Cleans Without Soap! Polishes Without Chalk!

HERE'S the most wonderful toothpaste news you've ever read! Now, at last—after years of development—a revolutionary toothpaste has been created that's so utterly new, so radically different, so incredibly better than any other toothpaste for brightening teeth, it sets an all-time high standard for dental beauty.

Gets Teeth Brighter

This remarkable new toothpaste is called LYONS TOOTHPASTE... and evidence that it is better—far and away better—than any toothpaste on the market, is found in thousands of exhaustive laboratory tests. These tests prove, and prove conclusively, that new Lyons Toothpaste is better, because they show that while cleaning teeth, it actually gets them brighter...2½ to 5½ times brighter ...than any other toothpaste.

New, Different Formula

There's nothing to match new Lyons Toothpaste, anywhere, because it's not just another toothpaste...not just another old toothpaste with an added ingredient. Instead, its formula is completely new and radically different. It contains a new, patented cleansing agent, and a new and exclusive polishing agent, as well.

As a result new Lyons Toothpaste not only cleans beautifully and polishes brilliantly... but, believe it or not, it cleans without soap—and it polishes without chalk!

Get unmatched new Lyons Toothpaste today—and see with your own eyes what a thrilling difference it makes in the brightness of your teeth.

Bigelow Asks Probe of State Housing Costs

Chairman Albert S. Bigelow of the State Emergency Housing Commission recommended today that the costs of building housing in the state should be investigated either by Atty. Gen. Clarence A. Barnes or by a special commission to be created by the Legislature.

Bigelow made his recommendation in a conference with members of a special commission investigating veteran problems. The commission is making a study of veteran housing as a part of its inquiry. Sen. Mason Sears, of Dedham, chairman of the commission, assured Bigelow he would arrange a conference on the matter with Atty. Gen. Barnes.

Chairman Lewis Weinstein of the State Housing Board, told the commission the housing shortage now had become chronic, saying 20,000 to 25,000 units were needed but probably no more than 8000 would be completed by the end of the year.

The commission will meet Thursday with representatives of veteran organizations to discuss housing and other veteran problems.

High Bail Holds 3 In Forgery Racket

Three New York ex-convicts, already held in $25,000 double surety each on charges of larceny, forgery and conspiracy which police say may have netted them close to $250,000, were arraigned in federal court today on an indictment alleging they stole bank statements from the mail to expedite forgeries.

The men are Walter Marks, 61, an accountant; Peter Green, 53, a stagehand, and Thomas Higgins, 39, a clerk. All pleaded not guilty and bail was set at $10,000 for Green and $4000 each for the other two.

Police said the trio set up dummy business offices, hired a Medford college girl as a secretary and then toured the city for mail boxes containing bank statements. From these they copied signatures, noted the bank balances and allegedly forged checks on the accounts.

Restaurants Ask Ban on Milk Boost

Atty. James C. Gahan, counsel for the Mass. Restaurant Ass'n., asserted in Superior Court today that the State Milk Control Board had no authority to set milk prices without a public hearing and asked Judge Vincent Brogna to enjoin them from putting into effect a price hike on Wednesday.

Judge Brogna took the motion under advisement after Asst. Atty. Gen. Alfred E. LoPresti had argued for the Board that the schedule was a notice of the Board's opinion of a fair price. If the court found the notice to be an order, he said, it could not review it on a bill in equity.

"The Board has led the public to believe that prices are fixed in the Metropolitan Area," Gahan declared. "It is true the Board has a right to fix prices but only when 51 per cent of the producers petition for it and certain other procedure is followed.

"This schedule of which we complain states minimum wholesale and retail prices.

"We seek to prevent the issuance of that schedule as the Board has no authority to set such prices. They can be fixed only when a petition for the increase is filed and a public hearing has been held. No such petition has been filed."

$75,000 Awarded 6 in Clinton Crash

WORCESTER, Sept. 29 (AP) —Five passengers in a Boston and Maine Transportation Co. bus and the husband of one were awarded a total of $75.00 damages today by a Worcester Superior Court jury. The bus was in collision with a private automobile in Clinton, June 27, 1943.

Receiving the highest amount, $50,000 was Mrs. Eliza Pacy of Littleton. He rhusband, Lawrence Pacy was given $15,000 for her medical bills. Their son, Anthony, a minor, got $10,000. Other awards were Mrs. Lorraine M. Champagne, $6000, George Bissonnette, $2000 and George V. Martin $1000.

Held for Trial In Cop Murder

Russell F. Swenson, 26, of Winthrop st., Roxbury, whose brother, Fritz, is already serving a life sentence in State Prison for the same crime, today pleaded not guilty in Suffolk Superior Court to second degree murder in the shooting last Oct. 2 of Police Sgt. William F. Healey.

Fight to Save Eye Of Auto Victim

Irving Moore, 21, Spruce st., Chelsea, lone victim in an auto collision early today, received wounds over his right eye that required 40 stitches.

He was a passenger in an automobile operated by F. D. Cox, also of Spruce st., which police said was in collision with a car, driven by Joseph Bucheri, Border st., East Boston.

Seek Cancer Link To Egypt's Waters

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—An Egyptian physician has come to the United States to aid in diagnosing an Egyptian disease contracted by American soldiers, and to determine whether it can cause cancer after one infection.

Dr. Jacob Ditschal of the University of Alexandria, Egypt, said the parasite-borne disease, bilharziasis, led to cancer of the urinary bladder and rectum, in cases of repeated infection, and was sometimes fatal.

The parasite, carried by snails, is present in the water of Egypt and other tropical countries. It can enter the body through the skin or through the mouth. Dr. Bitschal said early symptoms include blood in the urine and fever.

Prince Preferred Beer to Bride

The story of a bride who married a crown prince and then found he preferred his beer to his bride has been revealed in a story from Saxony that out-rivals many stories from fiction.

Details include the manner in which the disillusioned bride lived through her trial until death overcame her at the age of 77.

Full particulars of the fantastic story of royalty are contained in a double page spread in The American Weekly, magazine supplement distributed with next Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

WEAKER (?) SEX

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 29 (AP)—Izzy Weintraub packed away 144 cherrystone clams at Clam Stadium here to retain his title of world champion male clam eater in the fifth annual clam and oyster opening and eating contest.

The 200-pound Atlantic City jitney driver's victory was shaded, however, by Edna Lamb, of Morris River, who stowed away 186—relish and all—to gain the female crown.

Dick Powell Ups Cash for Children

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29—Suit which Joan Blondell filed against Dick Powell, asking for added finances for the support of Norman and Ellen Powell, will be withdrawn.

Powell will now pay $5600 a year for support of the children as well as the salary of any nurse or companion and their travelling expenses and maintenance during the time they spend with him.

The children will remain with Joan, who is also permitted to select the companion who will accompany them to Hollywood when they visit their father.

Curley Family Raps Statements

Declaring statements recently attributed to Mayor Curley were not only unauthorized but false, members of his family, through his daughter Mrs. Mary Curley Donnelly, today pointed out that the mayor's confinement at Danbury, Ct., prevented him from making any such statements

In a statement indicating the family was greatly disturbed, she said:

"Purported statements of Mayor James M. Curley have been printed in the newspapers. It is unfair to attribute any statements to him. The entire family is allowed a total of two hours a month with him and he is not permitted to see anyone else.

"Therefore he is in no position to make a statement and it is contrary to the rules of the institution at Danbury. Mayor Curley has authorized no one to speak for him.

"In view of this fact, any statements attributed to him are of necessity false and unauthorized. The sole and principal interest of Mayor Curley's family is his home-coming and our every prayer and effort is directed toward this end."

HUNTS BY EAR

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. (AP) —William Gilman, blinded during the war, has learned to track ducks by sound rather than by sight, and expects to be among the first hunters to blast away at Merrymeeting Bay when the season opens Oct. 7.

Weeks of arduous and often discouraging practise last year were crowned with success when Gilman brought down two ducks. A friend told him of the approach of the birds, but once he picked up the whistle of wings, Gilman was on his own.

Agree on Stadium For East Boston

City and State officials at a meeting in the mayor's office today agred on conitruction of a municipal stadium seating 7000 persons in the State-planned $1,300,000 recreational area on Porter st., East Boston.

Mayor Hynes called the conference after it was found the State had made plans for an athletic field with bleachers, while the city had planned to erect a stadium. In the compromise Hynes and City Councilor Coffey agreed to sponsor an order in the City Council calling for appropriation of $200,000 towards the construction.

It Wasn't a Gag, As Blast Proves

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29 (AP)—Boys will be boys department—Radio Patrolmen E. O. Swartz and C. T. Zumel stopped early yesterday to interview five boys whom they suspected of loitering.

The lads were a little restive, and finally one suggested it might be a good idea to move on. They had buried a wastepaper basket full of dynamite and ignited a fuse leading thereto.

Police suspected it might not be a gag, so down the street they went. Then — whammy!!! The dynamite went off, waking neighbors up for miles around, showering a near-by fire station with rocks and debris.

The boys said they had found the explosives in an abandoned mine. They were booked for setting off dynamite—without a permit.

Seize $234,000,000 Bills In Counterfeit Raid

PARIS, Sept. 29 (INS)—French police aided by an American Secret Service officer were reported today to have uncovered a counterfeiting plant where they seized sheets of forged United States dollars valued at $234,000,000. Twelve persons were said to have been arrested in raid near Marseilles.

The bills were of 50 and 100 dollar denomination. They had not yet been numbered. Men found in the hideout were caught diluting special ink in order to print the numbers.

Cream Brings Youth Touch

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

ALWAYS IT IS youth that is emphasized. It was a young man's war . . . it is a young man's and young woman's world. You must have the spirit of youth to meet competition . . . the vitality of youth . . . the enthusiastic attitude and unbridled outlook of youth. The new look in fashion is the young, feminine look.

Always, always . . . it is youth that prevails. There's a lot in that, however. The young take on new and added responsibilities to meet the obligations expected of them . . . the older folk do their best to keep up with the young in a communion of thought and activity that is of mutual benefit to both

Is it important not to look old? Well . . . how do you feel on the days when your face is particularly drawn and haggard . . . when you look old and spent? Do you like the idea that your neighbor . . . who is maybe a year or two older than you . . . looks a few years younger? And how do your children react to your "lavender and old lace granny" ways and looks?

Take solace in the days when you were young . . . but now no longer care. Only it won't be solace . . . this knowing you are a has-been. But to wake up and live . . . help that over-30 skin achieve a line-less, age-less look. No cream is going to make you look like a cherub . . . but a scientific cream . . . one-month, one-cream treatment . . . can do much to recondition effectively your complexion because this particular product aids both the outer and inner skin.

Take pride in your looks . . . and this cream, administered faithfully every night . . . will reward your efforts.

This cream goes one step further than most estrogenic substance preparations. It also releases a second ingredient to the outer skin . . . vital oxygen. While its estrogenic substances are busily helping to counteract the aging signs . . . the extra oxygen that is supplied to your skin has an effect on sallow leftover tan or pigmentary blemishes and surface irregularities. Soon your complexion will be lighter, fairer with that youthful transparency that is so desirable . . . especially for the new cult of curves that's coming into vogue. But give yourself a month's time . . . before judging the results.

For the name of this outer skin revamping cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IF YOU REMEMBER when . . . when figure reformers and refiners similar to this bra and "cinch" corset designed by Warner Brothers . . . were sartorial necessities . . . today's discussed facial revamping cream is for you . . . to help you achieve the young look for new youngline fashions. However, every over-30 skin could take . . . and beautifully too . . . a nightly dose of this emollient.

Shouldn't Take Boy Seriously

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am a girl of 14 and recently was introduced by some friends to a boy of 16. He keeps telling me he loves me and that if I don't like him he will kill himself. He knows that I don't like him and am not quite ready to like anybody yet, but I am afraid he will carry out his threat.

Please help me.

—CONCERNED

DEAR "CONCERNED":

In the first place, I doubt very much if you need to worry about the possibility of this boy committing suicide over you. It is quite probable that he likes to talk in a dramatic fashion to try to impress you, but has no serious intention of doing any such thing as he threatens.

There is, of course, a remote possibility that he may be an extremely unbalanced adolescent who might do something foolish on the spur of the moment. If anything of this sort should happen, however, it is not your affair and you would be in no way to blame. If he is this sort of boy, it is likely that he would do something foolish no matter what the circumstances were. My advice to you is to put the whole thing out of your mind.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am 15 and met a boy, also 15, not long ago whom I grew to like very much, and he also liked me. One night at a dance he met my best friend and they seemed to fall for each other. I felt quite bad and after the dance told my girl friend off, and she told the boy about it. Because of this he began to think that I was getting serious about him, and now I think he doesn't feel so friendly toward me. I meet him often and he doesn't have much to say. The other girl has moved away now.

"PEP."

DEAR "PEP":

It is always risky business to give any boy an opportunity to discover that two girls are competing for his attention. It not only inflates his ego and makes him think he is quite a fellow, but it also is likely to scare him away from both girls.

Stepfather Gives Girl in Marriage

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My sister's marriage is to take place soon, and she will be given in marriage by our "Dad," who is our stepfather. When her marriage is announced in the newspapers, should we write it, "the bride was given in marriage by her stepfather" or "... by her father?"

D. M

This should read, "The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Robinson" (his full name would undoubtedly have been mentioned in the first part of the announcement).

Charm at Breakfast

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE FRESHEST time of the day is early morning. The birds know it and announce it with their brightest singing. The flowers know it and greet it with their dewiest faces. Smart wives know it, too. They come to the breakfast table looking as radiant as the morning in their freshest, most feminine housecoats.

Breakfast gowns are made to the measure of the beginning day. Now, for winter, they are warm and colorful. Their mood is feminine. They are touched with eyelet and embroidery, laced with ribbons, softened with lace. Their lines are sweeping with full skirts and wide sleeves. Colors are muted, never harsh or bright.

The breakfast gown sketched today was designed by Irene to be worn by Myrna Loy in MGM's new picture, "Song of the Thin Man." Made of aqua wool, it has wide sleeves and a gently flaring skirt. The white linen collar covers the bodice. It is scalloped and embroidered and latticed lengthwise with aqua ribbon.

Grape Favorite Jelly in U. S.

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

YEAR AFTER YEAR grape continues to be America's favorite jelly. Well, there really is a reason—and the true proof is in the eating. Delicious grape spreads offer so much in the way of variety and colorful spreads enhance any meal.

Here are some favorites for your jam cupboard:

GRAPE JELLY

½ bottle fruit pectin
¼ cups juice 7 cups sugar

To prepare the juice, stem about 3 pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add ½ cup of water; bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan. (Concord grapes give best color and flavor. If wild grapes, Malagas, or other tight-skinned grapes are used, use 3½ cups grape juice and add ¼ cup lemon.

To make the jelly, add sugar to juice in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 10 six-ounce glasses.

GRAPE JAM

5½ cups prepared fruit
7 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare the fruit, slip skins from about 3 pounds fully ripe Concord or other loose-skinned grapes. Add 1 cup water to pulp; bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 5 minutes. Sieve to remove seeds. Chop skins and add to pulp. Measure 5½ cups into a very large saucepan.

To make the jam, measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 12 six-ounce glasses.

Spiced Grape Jam

Add ¼ to 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, ginger, and allspice or any desired combination of spices to grapes before simmering.

GRAPE CONSERVE

½ cups prepared fruit
Grated lemon rind
¼ cup lemon juice
7 cups sugar
½ lb. seeded raisins
1 cup nut meats, finely chopped
½ bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, stem and crush well about 3 pounds fully ripe grapes. Add ¼ cup water, bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 30 minutes. Remove seeds and skins by sieving. If desired, chop or grind skins and add to pulp. Grate rind and squeeze juice from 2 lemons. Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Add lemon rind and juice, raisins, and nuts; mix well. Bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute.

Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot conserve. Makes about 12 six-ounce glasses.

"Broadway's Voice," by Dorothy Kilgallen, daily in the Boston Evening American

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc

I HAVE BEFORE ME a circular issued in connection with the Freedom Train. It says: "Freedom is everybody's job!" And then announces the celebration of "Rededication Week." The public is invited to visit the Freedom Train—admission free—to see the Declaration of Independence, Bill of Rights, Emancipation Proclamation and 100 other historic documents.

Then it recites "The Freedom Pledge," which follows:

"I am an American, a free American
Free to speak—without fear
Free to worship my own God
Free to stand for what I think right
Free to oppose what I believe wrong
Free to choose those who govern my country
This heritage of freedom I pledge to uphold
For myself and all mankind."

It is "The Freedom Pledge" that I want to discuss today. It seems to me to omit too much—it omits the flag and the Constitution.

WHEN I WAS A BOY, the pledge was worded this way:

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

We used to say that every day at school. Then we saluted the flag and sang "The Star-Spangled Banner."

In recent years the words "of the United States of America" were included to make sure that everybody knows which country is meant. In my day, nobody had any doubts about that. We only knew one country. We only loved one country. We were not one worldish or two worldish. Simply, we were Americans.

IN 1918, William Tyler Page wrote a piece called "The American Creed," which was accepted by the House of Representatives. I think this is a better statement of American principles than appears on the Freedom Train circular. It reads:

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies."

That is very complete and understandable and leaves no room for doubt. It is a take-it-or-leave-it statement and anybody who cannot take it, has no place in this country.

AT ANY RATE, the Freedom Train circular pledge should be revised to include a pledge to the flag of this country, to its history and traditions.

It should contain a pledge to uphold and maintain the Constitution of the United States, including its Bill of Rights, which is the foundation of our liberties and without which we might readily become the slaves of a tyrant, as has happened to so many of millions of human beings during the past quarter of a century.

Without even a casual mention of the Constitution, rededication means nothing. To what is one to be rededicated?

WHOEVER WROTE the Freedom Train pledge missed the spirit of his task. It is not that an American is "free to oppose what I believe wrong." An American is free to speak or write his opposition to the Constitution of the United States; he is free to hold mass-meetings or to petition the Congress for redress of grievances. He is free to oppose evils and to support the good.

But no American, no matter how much he may believe it to be wrong, is free to take an overt step to overthrow this government, to change its form, to abridge the rights of the people to make it subservient to a foreign dictator.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

If yez will kindly pipe down, dis is the time of the year when I. Ort, the poor man's friend mounts the podium an' soun's off about the state of the nation's pock-ethook. Wid the dollar bill shrinkin' like a 98c dress in boilin' water, they's no knowin' wat ordinary folks is goin' ta have from day ta day. They been substitutin' eggs fer meat until the cackle fruit got too high. Then, they substituted macaroni until that got up ta nine cents a yard. Now, some people is experimentin' wid dry leaves as brekfast seriall The poor may be lackin' in the necessities but they won't be lackin' a playground as long as I have my place! I want the hole world ta know that my El Tropico Room is wide open fer them wat's short of the green stuff. Joe Nevils' wunnerful, entertainin' band is on hand nitely fer them folks budgetin' their enjoyment. In my Grille, they'e three stage frolics nitely an' they ain't no cover charge! A few dimes will get ya hours of fun an' pleasure. How——ware else will a dime get so much——only in the subway! I'm doin' my best ta beat prices down so John T. Publick kin relax in his slax at a price he kin afford an' not snatch food outa the baby's mouth! Yep! A handful of cash will get ya a barrel full of fun at the gayest, gay afternoon an' nite spot in Boston, Ort's Grille, 25 Essex St. nr. Washington. Advt.

Autumn Wedding

FALMOUTH WILL be the future home of the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Hugo H. Hanson whose marriage took place Saturday at Christ Church, Cambridge. The bride is the former Susan Gilman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gilman. She graduated from Vassar and belongs to the Vincent Club.

Mr. Hanson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo H. Hanson of Wynnewood, Pa. He graduated from M. I. T. School of Architecture last winter and is in business on the Cape.

Alison Gilman

Two sisters of the bride, Alison and Barbara Gilman, and the groom's sister Mrs. Joseph Coors of Denver, were bridesmaids, together with Jane Dunstan of Belmont and Tulick Delafield of New York. They wore white taffeta with coronets and bouquets of blue delphinium.

A Brussels lace veil graced the pretty blonde bride who was given in marriage by her father and wore a white satin gown with a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Hugh B. Hanson, brother of the groom was best man.

A ROMANCE linking Delaware's well known duPont family with Boston society culminated in the marriage of Phoebe Lyman duPont and Edward Learnard Emerson Saturday at Greenville, Delaware. The ceremony at Christ Church was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's father, Francis V. duPont. Her mother is Mrs. Arthur C. Ketcham of So. Londonderry, Vt.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bigelow Emerson of Newton, is bringing his bride to Boston to live after a wedding trip to Bermuda. He served in the Navy three years and is now attending Harvard Business School. The bride graduated from Pine Manor Junior College and is a member of the Junior League of Wilmington, Del.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Glimpsed Caroline Ritchie registering Dec. 22 at Bird's deb salon as the date of her coming out party. That will be during her Christmas vacation from Wheaton where she is a freshman. She is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Oliver H. Ritchie of West Newton.

Jean Bodell's name, which has so often appeared on the guest list of Boston coming out parties, is now a brand new entry on Dan Cupid's ledger. Her engagement to Vincent R Bailey is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Bodell of Providence. Jean spends every summer at Cape Cod and has a wide circle of friends in Boston social circles. She belongs to the Junior League.

Her fiance was captain of the Harvard crew in 1940 and served as a lieutenant commander in the submarine service.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE banners will decorate the Statler ballroom Wednesday evening for the opening dinner of the college's 75th anniversary fund. Dean Acheson, former Undersecretary of State and distinguished Washington lawyer, will be the principal speaker.

Mrs. Frank G. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Spencer, Jr., of Boston are entertaining parties of 10 at the dinner as are Mrs. Osgood Perkins of Brookline and Mrs. W. Elliott Pratt of Wellesley Hills.

Wellesley alumnae and friends planning to attend include Mr and Mrs. F. Murray Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Downes, Dr. and Mrs. Judson S. MacGregor, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Pratt Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Allen, Mrs. Charles C. Beebe, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Blanchard, Mrs. George A. Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Ayer DeBois, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gambrill. Mrs. William T. Aldrich and many more.

Boxer Ross Sues 'Body and Soul'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29—Barney Ross, former lightweight and welterweight champion, has retained Jerry Giesler and Mike Willner to represent him in the claim he is making against "Body and Soul," John Garfield's Enterprise picture.

Ross is alleging in his complaint an invasion of privacy, and states certain parts of "Body and Soul" are based on his own life.

He further states he has a contract with Bob Roberts, who directed the picture for Enterprise, and although he had been paid partly in cash, there is still a percentage due him.

Jews Celebrate Succoth Feast

Greater Boston Jewry today were celebrating Succoth, The Feast of Booths, in synagogues and temples.

Especially constructed booths are covered with fruit and leaves to resemble the shelters used in the fields of the Holy Land by farmers.

The holiday, a nine-day affair for orthodox and conservative Jews and an eight-day fete for reform Jews, is in thanksgiving for God's bounties at the harvest time and during the year.

Bach Program At Symphony

Serge Koussevitzky, who is expected to arrive Wednesday on his return from Europe has cabled the program with which he will open the 67th season of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Symphony Hall on Friday afternoon, October 10, and the following Saturday evening.

These concerts will be the first of the longer series of 24 pairs. There will also be shorter series of six Sunday afternoon and six Tuesday evening concerts. A few season tickets are still to be had for the Friday afternoon and Sunday afternoon series.

The opening program will consist of the First Brandenburg Concerto of Bach, which is to have its first performance at these concerts, Hindemith's Symphony in three parts, "Mathis der Maler," and the Fifth Symphony by Beethoven in C minor.

'Captive Heart' Moving Film

By PEGGY DOYLE

Lest we forget, the British cinematically remind us of a neglected aspect of war in "The Captive Heart," now to be seen on the Exeter Street Theater screen.

In this genuinely impressive Universal-International release, the camera has invaded the prisoner-of-war camps and given us an unbiased and compassionate closeup of the English captives, the men whom "the war did not choose to be heroes," and their German captors.

It is an honest, genuinely moving and always believable story of the men "to whom no decorations were given" but who came out of the long, lonely, torturous waiting "with unbroken spirit."

Captured in the summer of 1940 during the Battle of France, the PW's are shown marching eastward along the dust-showering dirt-roads and jammed into boxcars on their way to Germany.

REBIRTH OF HOPE

In bleak wooden barracks, set in dreary, grassless areas entirely fenced in by barbed wire, they pass the empty years, their early disillusionment and hopelessness being succeeded by a return of self-respect and faith. Making the best of things, they stage shows, play cricket, raise gardens.

And, for most of them, there are letters from home, letters that recreate life in England where a sweetheart or a wife and children are waiting for them and they are recharged with the courage to live through this heart-aching isolation.

Superbly subdued portrayals by a talented cast more realistic than glamourous and expert direction and production by Basil Deardon and Michael Balcon respectively contributed to the excellence of this discerning, distinguished screen drama.

Notable are Michael Redgrave's sensitive, reserved Czech, who having assumed a dead British officer's identity to escape the Gestapo, corresponds with and falls in love with the slain officer's wife, and Rachel Kempson, (Mrs. Redgrave in private life who is making her film debut) as the British officer's widow.

While "The Captive Heart" does not attain the stature nor offer the biting satire of "Grand Illusion," which uncompromisingly recorded the French captive-German captor facts in World War I, this World War II follow-up is in the tradition of that Gallic masterpiece and worthy of your intelligent attention.

'San Carlo Group Performs Robust Aida'

By LEO GAFFNEY

Fortune Gallo, long-distance champion of grand opera at popular prices, is at the Boston Opera House again with his San Carlo forces, for 37 years a staple article of entertainment in these United States.

Only the good old standbys, if you please: "Aida," "Butterfly," "Carmen," "Rigoletto," "La Traviata," "Faust," "Trovatore," they never change. So also with the audience. Same loyal crowd of old-timers and young-timers. They like the good old songs—preferably when sung good and loud.

That's why they went for Martha Larrimore last night. Doing Amneris in "Aida," her first performancee with the San Carlo, Miss Larrimore produced a big rich contralto that reverberated through the Opera House.

Besides, Miss Martha looks like Amneris. With good height, well-rounded figure and loads of fuzzy dark hair, she naturally suggests the voluptuous firebrand who would kill the guy she loved if she couldn't get him for herself, secure in her crime because she's the daughter of the Egyptian king in a time when it was pretty tough to get on the wrong side of royalty.

If only Rhadames had thrown some of those high-hurtling B-flats at Amneris he'd have saved a life—and with a good job for the rest of his days. But, no. In the perverse way of standard opera, you have to give the tenor to the leading soprano no matter how much its hurts.

And so Rhadames and Aida are buried alive, singing sweetly, while suffocating, "To Die, So Pure and Lovely."

In the title role, Selma Kaye did best. A sizeable girl anyway, she has a voice to match. The upsydownsy range of the part is practically Wagnerian, but Miss Kaye keeps the two extremes from becoming oppressive, which is not easy.

Miss Larrimore, in her understandable anxiety, pushed her tones. Nevertheless she's a generous addition to San Carlo.

The veteran Alfonso Poravadelli wisely conserved his limited vocal resources thereby keeping the taxing role of Rhadames in safe restraint.

William Wilderman did likewise with the High Priest, but Carlo Morelli, as always, provided an Amonasro of ringing authority.

Of late years the San Carlo has a way of not putting its best foot forward. The Sunday night "Aida," all told, was not of the best. The "Butterfly" tonight with the distinguished Hizi Koyke in the name part, is bound to be a much better show.

Author Explains Title of Play

Tennessee Williams, author of the prize-winning drama, "Glass Menagerie," has quite a simple explanation for his latest provocative title, "A Streetcar Named Desire." The locale of the play, which Irene M. Selznick is bringing here for two weeks beginning Nov. 3, is a section of present-day New Orleans where the streetcars are fancifully tagged.

One of them actually is named Desire and in the play a leading character refers to it as the vehicle which brought her to her present destination where a series of situations evolve that are fraught with violent emotion and turbulent drama.

Clare Luce to Pen Faith Film Script

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29—former Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce, who gave up politics and has refused innumerable theatrical and movie offers since she joined the Catholic church, comes to Hollywood in November.

She is being brought here by Darryl Zanuck to write the screen play for "The Screwtape Letters" by C. S. Lewis, noted professor of literature at Oxford.

Zanuck said the story is one of modern faith, and because of what it stands for, he had been able to persuade Mrs. Luce to accept his offer. It will be personally produced by Zanuck.

BRITISH QUADS

BRADFORD, Eng., Sept. 29 (AP)—Quadruplet girls were born here to Mrs. Eileen Horner, wife of Frank Horner, a baker, and all were reported thriving today on a diet of glucose and water administered by "penbolder" tubes.

The smallest girl weighs one pound, 13 ounces; another weighs one pound, 13 ounces, and their two sisters weigh two pounds, seven ounces. The Horners have two other children.

Comeback Grocer Slashes Prices

DUBOIS, Pa., Sept. 29 (AP)—The grocery business of Charles Mike, 78—sold out a year ago when Mike rettired—is open under the old name again because, he says:

"I want to divide my profits with my old customers."

Mike, whose gristling mustache grew while during his 60 years behind the counter, retired because he felt he was too old. He built himself a new house, but when the house was finished time hung heavily on his hands.

Mike reopened in a small room next door to the old store. These price tags brought a growing line of customers to his door:

Fresh eggs, 50 cents a dozen; butter, 75 cents a pound; bread, 12 cents; cold meats, 45 cents a pound.

Local stores, meanwhile were selling eggs for 85 cents, butter at 90, bread at 15 and cold meats at 75.

ASK AUSSIE IMPORT CUT

LONDON, Sept. 29 (INS)—Reuters reported from Sydney today that the Australian government will be asked to halve all imports from the U. S. in response to a new British appeal to save dollars.

Sneezing, Wheezing, Coughing
ASTHMA
Don't let coughing, sneezing, choking, recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma ruin your sleep and energy another day or night without trying Mendaco. This great medicine is not a smoke, injection or spray, but taken exactly as directed at meal time it works through the blood, thus reaching the lungs and bronchial tubes. Usually the first dose starts helping nature immediately in 3 ways: 1. Helps loosen and remove thick stranging mucus. 2. Thus promotes freer breathing and sounder, more refreshing sleep. 3. Helps alleviate coughing, wheezing, sneezing. Mendaco is the formula of a doctor with 30 years' experience and must work to your satisfaction or money back is guaranteed. Get Mendaco from druggist today

Rheumatism and Neuritis Pains
Thousands of sufferers from muscular pains and aches due to Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica and Neuritis have been delighted to discover that the Doctor's formula called Remind starts circulating through the blood almost immediately after the first dose, usually helping nature remove poisonous wastes and excess acids that often cause pains and soreness, at the same time promptly combating pain and discomfort.
To prove what Remind can do to help you feel improved and how fast it works, get Remind from your druggist and take exactly as directed. See the results for yourself. You be the judge. Unless surprised and delighted, simply return the empty package and your money back is guaranteed. Don't suffer another hour without trying Remind.

WHEN KIDNEYS Work Too Often
Are you embarrassed and inconvenienced by too frequent elimination during the day or night? This symptom as well as Smarting Passages, Backache, Leg Pains, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains and Swollen Ankles may be due to non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. In such case the very first dose of the scientifically compounded medicine called Cystex usually goes to work right now helping your body in 3 ways: 1. Helps nature remove irritating acid, poisonous wastes and certain germs. 2. This cleansing action helps many aches, soreness and stiffness. 3. Helps reduce frequent night and day calls, thus promoting better sleep. Get Cystex from your druggist today. Use it a fair trial as directed on package. Many best guaranteed unless Cystex satisfies you.

Charles Dressen

Dressen Holds Strategy Role In Series Play

By HUCK FINNEGAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—Yankee power vs. Dodger speed. Can the booming drives of DiMaggio, Lindell, Henrich and Johnson overpower the finesse and base-running skill of Brooklyn's three R's — Robinson, Reese and Reiser? If so, the A. L. will win the World Series. If not, the N. L. will repeat the 1946 victory of Slaughter-Brecheen and Co. Or so the conversation goes as the rival clubs await tomorrow's "Play Ball" that will open the best four-in-seven series.

Maybe Robinson, Reese and Reiser will outleg the Yanks as the Cards did the Red Sox last October. Robinson, if he's on base often, is capable of disturbing the composure of all but the most veteran of pitchers. And the Dodgers probably will be able to run on the Yank's catchers — Robinson, Berra and Houk. Yet there's a big but here.

The Dodgers Hank Edwards is rated the best catcher in the game behind Walker Cooper. He is supposed to stifle the Yanks once they attempt to pilfer that extra 60 feet. Only last week, however, the Braves pulled off two successful double steals in the same inning against him. Moreover, he was forced to leave that game with a finger injury on his throwing hand, and he was forced to leave Saturday's game in Boston for the same reason.

Could be that the Yanks, not entirely old men, will do a little fancy stepping themselves . . . not only on Edwards but on lame-arm center fielder Pete Reiser. There is nothing slow about Snuffy Stirnweiss, Phil Rizzuto or Tommy Henrich, and both Johnny Lindell and Joe DiMaggio can step when the occasion warrants.

There promises to be considerably more to this hard-to-figure series than power vs. speed.

There is Chuck Dressen, for instance. Last year Dressen was Leo Durocher's first assistant at Brooklyn. This year he is Bucky Harris' first assistant at Yankee Stadium. Robinson and Jorgensen are the only Brooklyn regulars who weren't with the club in '46, so Dressen knows the outfit's strong points and weak points.

Moreover, he's been scouting the Dodgers daily since it was apparent the Yanks were going to clinch the A. L. pennant, so his information is right up to the minute. Dressen is destined to play an important role in this series, and more than one altercation is bound to rage around his third base coaching post.

How about the pitching? Yanks followers insist 21-game winner Ralph Branca won't whip the Yanks, whether he pitches the first or second games. "He's another Hank Borowy," they insist, "and he won't be around at the finish."

The A. L. found that left-handers were more effective against the Yanks than right-handers, though with Keller out of the line-up only Henrich, McQuinn, Berra and Robinson swing from the left. Vic Lombardi is the most effective of the Dodgers left-handers but he's hardly big enough to carry the load, even though wiry Harry Brecheen did it last year against the Sox.

Joe Hatten has won more games than Lombardi but he's beaten only one first division club all year (Giants), and that victory came after the pennant was clinched. First year man Harry Taylor, right-hander, may be Brooklyn's No. 1 pitcher in this short series, and there is some doubt about his arm.

The Yanks should have the edge in pitching because the arms of Bobo Newsom, Allie Reynolds, Frank Shea and Floyd Bevens are sound, because Spud Chandler insists he's good for four or five good innings and because lefty Joe Page is the best relief man in the American League as the Dodgers' Hugh Casey is in the National.

Old Bo-Bo, recall, won two games for Detroit in the '40 series and lost a third 2-1 after predicting he'd win three. He's at his best when the crowds are largest, and he can be depended upon to be at his very best in the series. He's not the Bo-Bo of '40, to be sure, but he won seven games for the Yanks since joining them in mid-season, and won the important ones.

Shea pitches with his heart as well as his head, and he's likely to do as well in the classic as he did in early season before a sore arm cost him the league leadership in victories.

Dodgers claim superiority in defense, and no doubt outclass the Yanks in the infield. Certainly their Reese-Stanky combination rates more highly than Rizzuto and Stirnweiss while Robinson's youth and speed make him more valuable than McQuinn. But Rizzuto and Stirnweiss can make the DP as well as the next keystone duo, and that is all-important in a series of seven games.

The Dodgers must tie several hits together to stage a rally. They have no long-ball hitter as Camilli was in '41. Yanks, on the other hand, have men in Di Maggio, Johnson, Lindell, Henrich and McQuinn who can break up the game with a single stroke.

DiMaggio has 20 home runs, Henrich 16, McQuinn 12, Johnson and Lindell 11. Robinson is the only Dodger (12) who has made as many as 10. That could make a difference.

Dodgers are the "hungry" club, and kids like Stanky, Jorgensen, Robinson and Edwards will be batting their brains out to win. But the Yanks never were known to take it standing up as anyone who saw Lindell crash into the Cards' Kurowski in '43 will attest. Billy Johnson, unsung third baseman, is as rough as he has to be.

Don't forget either that DiMaggio, Henrich and Johnson are among the top five A.L. RBI leaders. They've been chasing runs across all season, and it is doubtful if Brooklyn's pitching can change their habits.

It promises to be a spectacular series, with underdog Brooklyn the people's choice. But baseball figures say the Yanks are the better club—short series or long one.

PREDICT SHOWERS FOR SERIES OPENER

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP) —The weather man today predicted scattered showers and considerable cloudiness for New York city and vicinity tomorrow —opening date of the 1947 World Series.

Here's his official forecast:

"Considerable cloudiness with scattered showers followed by clearing in late evening, highest temperature near 70, moderate to fresh south to southwest winds shifting to fresh to strong northerly by noon."

Red Sox Sign Joe McCarthy To Manage Hose in 1948-49

By HUCK FINNEGAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—Joe McCarthy today accepted a contract to manage the Boston Red Sox in '48 and '49. The announcement was made at noon in Joe Cronin's suite at Hotel Roosevelt where Cronin is making his headquarters during the World Series.

"I'm moving up as general manager," said Cronin, "while Eddie Collins will remain as vice-president and act in an advisory capacity."

McCarthy entered the room with Cronin.

"Joe (McCarthy) will have complete charge of player deals and everything connected with the playing end of the club," said Cronin. He has carte blanche to name his own coaches; make any player shifts he might deem advisable. He's the field generalissimo.

"Before I turn the meeting over to Mr. McCarthy," Cronin went on, "I want to express my sincere thanks to New England fans for their past co-operation. I know they'll continue to co-operate with our new manager because he has the best record of any manager ever to enter the American League, and to my mind he's the greatest manager in the game."

McCarthy promised loyalty to players, fans and press. "I'm very happy to be connected with the Yawkey - Collins - Cronin triumvirate," he started, "happy to be in Boston. I hope to make you all like me."

McCarthy has been on his farm in Amherst, N. Y., since he was ousted by the Yanks' Larry MacPhail on May 21, 1946. That historic event took place in Boston's Hotel Kenmore, with catcher Bill Dickey replacing him. Dickey didn't have so much as a contract and gave way to Johnny Neun before the season ended.

"My health is greatly improved since I parted from the Yanks," said McCarthy, who admitted he was 60 years of age. "The layoff did me a world of good but baseball is in my blood. Guess those lower sleeper jumps agree with me."

No mention was mad of McCarthy's salary but $40,000 a year was the consensus guess you can be sure. McCarthy was eager to get back in baseball in an effort to square things with the Yanks' owners who, everyone agrees, gave him a rough deal after his success with the Ruppert-owned Yanks.

McCarthy, like Steve O'Neil, long has been a bosom friend of Cronin's. In the South before every series they'd converse for hours. Cronin finished second to McCarthy so many times in the American League race that he was determined, whenever the chance arose, to have him on his side.

McCarthy won a pennant with the Cubs in 1929, was ousted in favor of Rogers Hornsby. He went to the Yankees in '31 and proceeded to win eight pennants and six world championships before his "retirement."

His 1946 Yanks were in second place, only 2½ or 3 games behind the Red Sox, when the shift to Dickey was made.

McCarthy was mentioned for the Sox post after the last World Series, but as Cronin stayed on, and McCarthy stayed on his farm, his name faded into the background. When Yawkey let the news out in Detroit last summer that this was Cornin's last year at the helm, the guessing started. first O'Neill, second Boudreau. Third Higgins.

O'Neill and Cronin have been friendly for years. O'Neill took on Frank Shellenzack as coach when the Sox canned him.

He is ear-marked as the Sox boss of the future. Meanwhile McCarthy will try to put the club on its feet again after a disappointing season in which they finished third, 14 games behind the pace setting Yanks. He'll have the Sox racing their heads off to win, and they'll show a hustle they showed sparingly in the past.

McCarthy is a martinet. It's every man for the team or that man is out—like Ben Chapman and even Babe Ruth. Williams will be hustling like the lowest rookie.

It is agreed that Boston has the National League's best manager in Billy Southworth. Now it has the American League's best manager in McCarthy.

"I haven't seen Tom Yawkey since the Louis-Conn fight," said McCarthy. "Joe Cronin called and asked me to meet him here last night. We talked half the night through before we came to terms The meeting adjourned quite late this morning."

McCarthy said he had not given a thought to his coaches. "Have'nt had a chance to think yet," he said. "Just slept a few hours, had breakfast with my wife and Rabbit Maranville, and here I am. But I've kept in touch with the game closely.

"No, I didn't see many games because if I ever appeared in a major league city rumors would start flying. But I've read the box scores."

He didn't deny that he could have had several posts this year, so it is reasonable to suppose he's been sitting on the Red Sox offer for a year.

Cronin? "Hates to take off the uniform, but there comes a time," he said.

Cronin is anxious to spend more time at home with his growing family. McCarthy has no children.

Dyer Signs '48 Cards Contract

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 29 (INS)—Eddie Dyer signed a new one-year contract today as Manager of the St Louis Cardinals after a conference with Sam Breadon, president of the club.

The terms were not disclosed, but it was believed Dyer received an increase over his 1947 salary which reportedly was around the $25,000 mark. Both Dyer and Breadon said the terms were "mutually satisfactory."

Breadon, commenting on the club's 1948 outlook, said:

"We have a good ball club. Many have us dead and buried, but they may be looking up to us before the next season is over."

Dyer echoed the boss' sentiments.

Dyer first became manager of the Cardinals last year and led the team to the National League pennant and victory over the Boston Red Sox in the World Series. The Cardinals finished second this season to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Hank Definitely Quits Pirates

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 29 (INS) —Big Hank Greenberg said definitely today that he will not play with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1948.

Greenberg, former American League home run king obtained from the Detroit Tigers early this season, told a sportswriter in Pittsburgh:

"I will not play with Pittsburgh next year."

Hank said he "enjoyed" his year with the Bucs, but declined to give any reason for not returning to Pittsburgh next year.

(Earlier this month, International News Service carried an exclusive story saying that Greenberg would not be in a Pirate uniform in 1948.

(Greenberg denied the story the next day.)

College Teams Show Evenness Of Strength

By FRANK LEAHY
Head Coach, Notre Dame

Having selected Georgia over North Carolina, Navy to take California and Rice to edge Louisiana State in three of Saturday's more important games, I'm sure that I can now be rated as an expert, having picked the wrong team in each instance. However, the over-all prognostication picture could have been worse, there being 19 victories against six defeats and one tie.

Probably the biggest upset was Navy's 14-7 loss to California. It certainly is nice enough though to see Lynn Waldorf get away to a good start with the Golden Bears. However, it is also interesting to note that Navy dominated play in the final stages of the contest. So, perhaps, it may be a case of Tom Hamilton's men needing a game. Remember, California warmed up with a relatively easy conquest of Santa Clara the Saturday previous. I feel that this Navy team will rebound and do its own share of upsetting on the forthcoming Saturdays.

Little Idaho's defeat of Stanford was another major upset. The Stanford team had been given a high pre-season rating and the result of the contest is a perfect example of anything being able to happen in the grand American game of football.

Georgia Tech's Fine Win Surprising

North Carolina's 14-7 triumph over Georgia was evidently well earned, although you can be sure that Wally Butts' Bulldogs gave a creditable performance. The Georgians seemed to have tied down the heralded Charlie Justice, but it's hard to stop a good passing attack and that is what North Carolina possessed. The Tarheels are now headed for a potentially great season.

Bernie Moore gave notice to future opponents that his Louisiana State Tigers are one of the ranking elevens in the nation as a result of a 21-14 win over Rice Institute. It must have been a great game with enough scoring to satisfy even the most offensive-minded fans.

Before leaving the Southland, I must comment on Georgia Tech's 27-0 victory over Tennessee. It had been predicted that this contest could go either way. The decisiveness of Tech's triumph uncovers the fact that Bobby Dodd must have one of the country's powerhouses.

Another great club in the same conference will be Tulane, 21-20 winner over tough Alabama.

Army Line Stronger Than '46

Army met a bit more trouble than expected in defeating a surprisingly rugged Villanova contingent 13-0. However, it appeared to scouts covering the game that the West Pointers have another fine line, one possibly even stronger than the forward wall of a year ago. All of which does not make us too happy at Notre Dame.

Illinois, possibly suffering from the glories of the Rose Bowl but more likely impeded by the strength of the opposition, went all the way to the fourth period before barely managing to eke out a 14-0 win over Pittsburgh. I sincerely hope Notre Dame can do as well this coming Saturday. It would seem to us at Notre Dame that the Panthers are on the way back.

Midwest fans were a bit disappointed at Friday night's game in Los Angeles when UCLA came from behind to defeat Iowa 22-7. Possibly it was a natural comeback for UCLA after their Rose Bowl disaster. Certainly they enjoyed every psychological advantage. The long trip and California heat may have caused the Hawkeyes to fade. Both are good teams.

The Ucleans, I imagine, were interested in the 21-0 win of Southern Cal. over Washington State. The Trojans and UCLA according to all Coast reports will eventually battle for the title out there, although Pappy Waldorf may have something to say about that.

Michigan Shows Great Power

For the most part throughout the country, form held true with the expected winners coming home in front. However, most interesting to me was the amazing number of close scores.

This is unusual for so early in the season and indicates there will be a relative evenness of strength among most of the major teams.

The exception, off Saturday's record, would be Michigan which really must have power in order to have taken over Michigan State by the landslide count of 55-0.

Outstanding Coaches Head for Weeping Room

By BILL GRIMES

After what happened to their respective elevens on Saturday, Coaches Bob Neyland, Tennessee, Marchy Schwartz, Stanford, Wally Butts, University of Georgia, Tom Hamilton Navy, Hal Drew, Alabama and Bob Voights, Northwestern, came anything but pleasant company last week-end.

Bobby Dodd, who played for the Vols under Neyland in the 20's, mild-mannered his "Ramblin' Wrecks" from Georgia Tech to a 27 to 0 victory over Tennessee. The "Old Grey Fox" was given a football lesson by his former pupil, while the Vols were taking the worst drubbing ever imposed upon a Neyland coached squad.

A year ago, Stanford hung a 45 to 0 defeat on Idaho. But, on Saturday, Dixie Howell's Vandals nosed out Marchy Schwartz's Indians, 19 to 16. It was Idaho's first victory over Stanford in their many years of rivalry and the win sent Dixie Howell off to a flying start at his new berth.

The North Carolina "Tar Heels" avenged the defeat they suffered at the hands of the University of Georgia in the Sugar Bowl last New Year's Day by defeating the Bulldogs, 14 to 7, after a hard hitting, free swinging battle at Chapel Hill, while the Golden Bears of California slipped Navy its ninth straight defeat by a 14 to 7 margin.

Tulane reversed the tables on Alabama winning, instead of losing by one point, while Zack Clinard, a reserve quarterback, converted a placement kick to give Vanderbilt a 3 to 0 win over Northwestern, thereby sending Bob Voights, the new "NU" coach, to the weeping room.

Getting back to what happened nearer home, Dick Harlow's Crimson warriors, who in another month, barring injuries, will compare favorably with any of the Eastern collegiate teams, did a terrible job on Western Maryland, trouncing the Green Terriers 52 to 0. The B.U. Terriers, playing their initial game under their new coach Aldo "Buff" Donelli, had to pull most of their punches to keep the Mohawk score down to 45 to 7.

Over at Tufts Oval, the Bowdoin Polar Bears came up with enough fumbles for the Jumbos to win, 21 to 12 verdict. The Springfield Gymnasts worked over Coach Johnny Grinnell's Northeastern Huskies to the tune of 41 to 6.

One of Bob Ripley's "Believe It or nots" cropped up down in Little Rhody. At Andrews Field, Providence, Brown won a 33 to 13 decision over the University of Connecticut and at Kingston, the University of Maine beat Rhode Island State by identically the same score.

The State of Maine colleges broke even. The state university dropped Rhode Island and the Bates Bobcats stopped the University of Massachusetts 14 to 6 but Colby lost a 28 to 0 verdict to the University of New Hampshire and as mentioned aoove Bowdoin lost to Tufts.

Little St. Michael's College went down to a 28 to 6 defeat before the University of Vermont but Middlebury and Norwich were victorious over Hobart and Lowell Textile, respectively. Amherst, the only Little Three college in action, played with Champlain, winning 21 to 0 but Bob Davis' University of Massachusetts at Fort Devens, playing their first sponsored game, were badly beaten by American International College of Springfield.

Using a total of 38 players, Yale walked over King's Point 34 to 13. Coach Howie Odell gave the reserves on the Eli squad ample opportunity to show him they are of varsity calibre by keeping his regulars on the bench most of the afternoon.

During the scoreless tie with Holy Cross, Dartmouth didn't show anything to warrant a prediction that it will win a majority, or even half of its remaining games. But, the Indians did display a brand of courage second to none.

For 60 minutes, Dartmouth didn't flinch when the chips were down. The Big Green line was outweighed 20 pounds per man. Offensively, the Indians did very little damage. The statistics show that Dartmouth gained but 62 yards, 54 by rushing and 8 on the one pass completed. The Crusaders gained 122 yards by rushing and advanced 51 yards on forward passes, for a total of 13 first downs to Dartmouth's two.

With its weight advantage, plus the presence of many experienced veterans, Holy Cross should have beaten the Big Green decisively. The only alibi the Crusaders can possibly offer for not scoring at least once during the three occasions they were within easy reach of pay dirt, is the remarkable gameness displayed by the Indians.

In all probability, the experts agree that Holy Cross blew the game by switching from "single wing" to "T" and vice versa. Granting they are, for the most part, experienced gridsters, the Crusaders still have not mastered the game enough to be able to perfect two offensive systems.

The Crusaders have a long way to go before they will be a threat clicking from the "T." They were far more successful at the single wing, particularly Veto Kissell, their powerful fullback, who was a washout for the most part, moving from the "T."

BC's Golden Jubilee Recalls Past Grid Deeds

Celebrating their Golden Jubilee on the gridiron, Boston College football teams have come a long way since the sport was officially recognized at the Jesuit institution in 1893. Teams such as St. John's Institute, Newton, Somerville and West Roxbury high schools were on the first Eagle schedule.

The college was located on James st. in those days. The flying wedge was one of the more popular offensive weapons.

The following season the Maroon and Gold had a poor season, winning but one of seven games. One of the losses was inflicted by the Brockton YMCA.

The traditional rivalry between B. C. and Holy Cross started in 1896. Since that time 43 games have been played between the Jesuit opponents. The Crusaders hold 21 victories to 19 for B. C. with three ties.

In 1913 the college moved out to its present site in Newton. Leo Daley captained the '13 eleven which amassed a record of four wins, three losses and a tie. No practicing facilities were available at University Heights so the squad worked out on the Reservoir grounds, now known as Cleveland Circle.

The Charley Brickley-Frank Cavanaugh era started in 1916. Rev. Maurice Dullea, S.J., present moderator of athletics at the Heights, was captain and right tackle on the '16 team. The next year Charley Fitzgerald, present Latin School coach, was captain.

In '28 the Eagles won the eastern championship for the second time. Major victories over Holy Cross (19-0), Navy, Duke and Fordham, highlighted the season, during which B. C. piled up 263 points to its opponents' 39.

Names such as Herb Treat, Con O'Brien, Jack Heaphy, Jim Fitzpatrick, Jim Doyle, Chuck Darling, Joe McKenney, Al Weston, D. Leo Daley, Harry Downes, Bernie Kilroy, Bill Ohrenberger and Warren McGuirk were as well-known then as Lujack, Blanchard, Davis and Connor are today.

Joe McKenney, Harry Downes and Gil Dobie were Boston College grid coaches during the '30's. Then came the man who brought the Eagles into the National limelight, Frank Leahy.

His first season, 1939, saw the Heightsmen participate in their first Bowl game. The Leahymen journeyed to Dallas and played Clemson in the Cotton Bowl.

In 1940 they were acclaimed as the national champions and went to their second Bowl, defeating Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl.

Denny Myers took over the coaching reins in 1941 and the Maroon and Gold won seven of its 10 games, including a 14-13 victory over Holy Cross.

Another Bowl bid was in the offing during the '42 season. B. C. won eight straight, beating some of the best teams in the nation. Then came the game which most Eagle enthusiasts would give anything to forget as the underdog Crusaders ran wild over B. C. (you know the score). B. C. lost in the Orange Bowl to Alabama

Boston Police Win Pistol Title

Everybody is asking...

"Why can't I get more Budweiser?"

The fact is that Anheuser-Busch is making more BUDWEISER than ever before—but more people are asking for it than ever before.

Time and again we have built the world's largest brewery bigger. Now we are in the midst of the biggest expansion of all. It will make many more millions of bottles of BUDWEISER available.

Meanwhile we are distributing our tremendous output on a fair-share basis to all.

It seems that people no longer ask for beer—they ask for Budweiser

Hunters Start Gunning For Pheasants in Maine

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Hundreds of hunters will head for the deep woods and covers of Maine tomorrow, anticipating the opening of the upland gunning season. Winged targets which will be legal quarry on Wednesday, include pheasants, and woodcock — in northern counties—in addition to rabbits and gray squirrels. The State has released some 16,000 pheasants, which will augment the existing number of wild ringnecks considerably.

Pheasants may be shot in combination with ruffed grouse, with a daily limit of two each. Bagged alone, four of either species may be taken. The season limit for grouse is 25, and 12 for pheasants.

Last year, 130,765 resident and non-resident hunting licenses were issued in Maine. This figure will probably be surpassed this fall. Big business!

GUN SHOTS: Since 16 nimrods were killed accidentally in the Pine Tree State last autumn, the Maine Development Commission has launched a most sincere campaign to prevent casualties in the field. This writer has always advocated that tests should be given to aspirants for shooting licenses. We'll repeat our ideas on this subject in a few days. In the meantime, here are the Ten Commandments of Hunting Safety, recommended by the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers' Institute:

1—Treat EVERY gun with the respect due a LOADED gun.

2—Carry only EMPTY guns, taken down or with action open, into your auto, camp, and home.

3—Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble.

4—Be SURE of your target before you pull the trigger.

5—Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

6—Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

7—Never leave a gun unattended unless you unload it first.

8—Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.

9—Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or at the surface of water. Bullets will ricochet.

10—Do not mix gunpowder with alcohol!

To add a comment of our own, we'd say that one should always "squeeze" the trigger—not pull it . . . And we always thought that a "gun" meant any weapon similar to a cannon; hunters use either rifles or shotguns.

ANGLING ANGLES: "Sarge" Sargent sends word from Orleans that the stripers have started to strkie in good quantities again, thanks to the cooler weather. The ex-ski trooper picked up a 25-pounder last week, using an Atom plug . . . Bernie Collins, of Orleans, recently tied into no less than 22 battling bass, in Town Cove, trolling Cape Cod spinners with seaworms . . . The fish averaged up to 21 pounds . . . Snapper blues continue to provide action aplenty in these waters for light tackle addicts. Everyone seems to have been catching from six to a dozen, trolling flies or small spinners.

Over Million N. H. Track Cut

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 25 (AP)—New Hampshire's income from pari-mutuel racing at Rockingham Park race track and two agricultural fairs has climbed above 11,000,000 so far this year, the State Racing Commission reported today.

The second week of an emergency meet at the Salem track paid the state $232,199 as its share of the betting, about $24,000 over the first week of the 19-day meeting.

New Hampshire's share of the Rockingham wagering for the 18-day regular summer meet and the two weeks of the emergency session has totaled $1,057,781, and returns from agricultural fairs at Rochester and Pittsfield swelled the total to $1,071,992.

Pirates Release Bagby, Wietelmann

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 29 (AP)—Four more players who participated in the Pittsburgh Pirates' worst showing in 30 years were cut adrift today as the club began rebuilding for the 1948 baseball wars.

Shortly after the season ended yesterday with the Bucs tied for last place in the National League, the club released pitchers Jim Bagby and Lee Howard to Indianapolis of the American Ass'n and infielder Whitey Wietelmann and pitcher Alvin Tate to Sacramento of the Coast League.

Boxer's Wife Finds Husband's Body

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—The bodies of Jerry Fiorello, 32, a middleweight boxer, and Mrs. Minnie Horowitz, 23, mother of two children, were found last night on the kitchen floor of the Fiorello apartment at 290 Sackett st., Brooklyn. Police said four gas jets of the kitchen stove were open.

The bodies were found by Fiorello's wife, Ida, when she returned with her two children, Josephine, 11, and Vincent, nine, after an afternoon visit with relatives in Queens.

Police said Mrs. Fiorello told them she found the apartment door locked and smelled gas. She went downstairs and called her two brothers, Peter and Rudolph Ricca, who forced the door.

Through newspaper clippings and papers in a wallet police established the woman's identity. They said she had been separated for more than a year from her husband.

Fred Daley Ousted In British Golf

BIRKDALE, England, Sept. 29 (AP) — British Open Champion Fred Daly of Ireland was ousted from the London Daily Telegraph's amateur-professional four somes match play tournament today in the first round, thwarting his bid to pick up Britain's two fattest golf purses in 10 days.

Frittering away a 3-up lead after seven holes, Daly and his amateur partner, Cecil Ewing, fell 2 and 1 to Joe Carr and Fred Bullock. Both Carr and Ewing were Irish contributions to the 1947 Walker Cup team.

Daly won England's biggest prize last Saturday—$3000 for the Professional Golfers' Ass'n match play title. First money in this torney is worth $2400.

All 10 British Ryder Cup players are competing in the tournament, an unprecedented event designed to raise the standard of amateurs by giving them experience playing with and against pros. The 7000-yard, seaside Birkdale course was swept by a strong wind for the 16 opening matches.

50 Countries Accept Olympic Invitation

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—A record number of competing nations and entries is in sight for the 1948 Olympic games in London.

The British organizing committee reported today that 50 countries have accepted the invitation to compete and 10 more are still to reply. Already the figure equals the record number of nations that participated at Berlin in 1936 when the athletes totaled 3959.

First League Test for Yanks Against Giants

Geared to physical perfection and keyed to a high mental peak, the Boston Yanks will meet the New York Giants, Eastern Division champions, in the opening National Football League clash for both outfits at Fenway Park at 8:30 tonight.

Exhibitions are forgotten and the weeks of gruelling double drills are now memories—the fastest football action in the land starts for both of tonight and the pressure is on.

And it's quite different from a year ago.

At that time, too, the Yanks opened with the Giants but they were a green, over-anxious club that tightened up badly. Tonight, Paul Governali, Hal Crisler, Nick Scollard, Boley Dancewicz, Tom Dean, Johnny Badacewski, and Joe Domnanovich have a year of experience behind them.

With other standouts such as Monk Maznicki, Johnny Grigas, Don Currivan, Frank Seno, and Mike Micka to go along with the sophomores, the Yanks should not tighten up tonight.

These seasoned stars should be able to keep the brilliant freshmen newcomers from opening-night jitters. It's hard to see, though, how Joe Golding, Fritz Barzilauskas, Bill Chipley, and Carroll Vogelaar will do anything but produce in their first N. F. L. test. All four have been through tough warfare (real war) and have five exhibition games under their belts. The Giants will be just another club to them.

Unfortunately, though, from a Boston standpoint, the Giants are more than just another club. They have a rock ribbed line that's dynamite. In Chet Gladchuk, the former B. C. great, they have a center who is in line for all-league honors and their tackles—Notre Dame's Jim White and Army's Tex Coulter have youth, power, and are plenty mean.

May Combine Park, Boylston Stations

The Metropolitan Transit Authority is considering construction which would make one subway stop of the Park and Boylston st. stations, it was disclosed today in a communication to the city council.

The plan was mentioned in a letter from the Authority in reply to a request by the council that the Park st. station be renamed Boston Common.

It was pointed out by the Authority that if Park and Boylston st. stations are joined, by extending their platforms, consideration must be given to a name for the enlarged facilities—thus "no immediate action" can be given therefore to the proposed Boston Common name for Park st.

New Ceiling, Walls Free of Charge

There are nice new ceilin and freshly plastered walls the living room of a house at Bromley st., Roxbury—and it w all done for free.

Four plasterers were hired Perley Nelson of Canton, to tak the plaster off the walls and ce ing of a room in a house 19 Bro ley st. and refinish the r They got into the wrong hous decided the living room needs doing over and ripped away walls and ceiling.

In the midst of the job the bo arrived and the mistake was di covered. The quartet restored t plaster (on their own time) a moved to the job they were to g paid for.
